Show-Down Near in Oklahoma Crisis

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 22.—Further extension of martial law unless local county authorities in several counties clear up alleged conditions of "lawlessness" in their respective districts was threatened by Governor Walton tonight, accompanied by a statement that additional national guardsmen were to be mobilized for active duty throughout the state.

No indication as to the counties threatened was given by the executive. Neither was the number of extra guardsmen to be called out shown.

To Stop Legislature

The governor reiterated his declaration that the members of the lower house of the state legislature would not be allowed to assemble at the scheduled meeting Wednesday noon at the capitol. However, he refused to state what action would be taken, referring the question to Adjutant General Markham. Markham declined to make any statement.

Adjutant General Markham will be in command of the troops in the city on the date scheduled by the insurgent klansmen representatives to meet. Markham will have charge of the situation, Walton asserted.

There will be no meeting of the legislature. The scheduled meeting for Wednesday is that of klansmen and not legislators. They shall not meet," the governor declared.

Appeals for Funds.

Questioned as to the probability of klansmen being enrolled in the national guard, the governor again referred the question to Markham.

"I cannot state whether there are klansmen in the guard, but I can assure that the guardsmen will obey orders at all times," Markham declared.

In a written statement issued to newspapermen at his mansion late tonight, the governor appealed for financial aid for the establishment of a paper here for the distribution of the facts of the situation throughout the state. He attacked various papers over the state, declaring they were subsidized with funds coming from Klan headquarters at Atlanta, Ga.

SECOND BUS LINE IS PLANNED HERE

New Car Ordered for North Residence District

Inauguration of a second bus line service through the northern residential district early in October was announced Saturday by El Lohman, president of the Port Arthur-Port Neches bus line company.

Definite line-up of this route for the new bus has not been made, but a 17-passenger Dodge vehicle, similar to the one now in use on the Tenth and Thirtieth street line, is ordered, Lohman said.

Steady increases in the patronage of the Port Arthur-Port Neches line since the route was changed some time ago to serve the residents along the Port Neches cut off road, through the Groves addition and along the Country club road, also are reported by Lohman.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Forecast of a "wet revolution" in the city council was seen here today as a result of Mayor William Devore's speaking of secession from the city council in an effort to stop the flood.

A report that more than 200 members of congress were members of the Klan was scouted at the White House.

BOARD TO AWAIT MARRS' DECISION

School Trustees Refuse to Enter El Vista Controversy

BUTTON STATES POSITION

Says Board Had Received No Complaint

It is up to S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of education, to deal with El Vista residents and settle their complaints brought against the Port Arthur independent school district board of trustees that children are having to walk from four to seven miles to school since bus transportation was discontinued by the board.

This is the attitude outlined Saturday by Davis Button, president of the school board, relative to the charges brought against the board by El Vista residents in a recent meeting when they unanimously passed a resolution threatening to institute suit against the school board and attempt to secede from the Port Arthur independent school district.

"Dealing with the state superintendent of education and the citizens of El Vista," Button said, "The school board has heard nothing from them regarding their grievances, and therefore it is not our place to enter into the controversy at this time," he said.

Explaining that the bus which brought El Vista school children to Port Arthur schools last session was discontinued at the close of school as a matter of policy, because all similar busses operated by the board are no longer used to bring children into Port Arthur schools, Button denied that the board was discriminating against El Vista by not renewing the bus line at the opening of school last Monday.

Button said he does not know how the El Vista children are getting to school since the school board discontinued the bus, and said he does not know how many children in that community are attending schools in Port Arthur this session.

Claim No Facilities.

Last year the average attendance was 36 or 37, Button said he had been informed.

Action by the school board discontinuing the bus to El Vista was characterized as tyrannical by the El Vista citizens in their resolution, a copy of which was forwarded to State Superintendent Marrs. They claim 60 children are in the El Vista community without any means of getting to school unless they walk from four to seven miles.

New Fall Styles For Men Mark Passing of 'Sheik'

Post Laureate

England's poet laureate, Robert Bridges, who has accepted a fellowship in creative art in the University of Michigan and will soon come to America. Bridges is 70.

Loose Coats With Wide Shoulders to Rule—Races Track Plaid Slatel for Closet, Says Styledom

The "sheik" is passing with the new mode in men's clothes for fall and winter.

The slender, patent haired Port Arthur lad who moulded into his form fitting raiment as though he had been melted into them by the heat of the passion he affects, must go.

This year the husky mass of muscle with broad shoulders and piano covers physical features has his day.

Costs will be loose fitting, on easy, comfortable lines. They will have wide shoulders, which will show to advantage the man's man. There will be no vent in the rear of the coat and lapels will be rolling and small at the neck. Because of the broad shoulders the effect will be that of a shorter model.

Trousers will be full and flowing. Smooth goods of striped patterns will replace the twined and taut materials. The race track plaid has seen its day.

Overcoats will be as comfortable and roomy as a living room, with the box type of ulster bidding strongly for popularity.

Can't Tell By How They Look What They Read

Port Arthur Flapper Demands Literary Reviews; Housewife Love Serials With Bold Villains

"He yourself" is a popular slang slogan of today but this advice is utterly useless because the ideal of the average person is vastly different from his reality. In the opinion of an observer of human nature who has practiced the interesting art from the vantage point of a Port Arthur newstand for several years.

A slim pale, stoop-shouldered young man with horn-rimmed spectacles and a studious air approached the counter.

"Here is a sure sale for some health or physical culture magazines," said the newdealer. "Each month this man buys several health magazines and no doubt stays awake all night reading them."

After carefully inspecting three health culture periodicals the young man, seemingly unable to decide, finally purchased them all.

The next customer was a fat, jovial looking gentleman whom one pictures as reading only the laugh-getters of barbershop fans. But hold! This man is a thinker, at least so far as his reading is concerned.

"He is a well-to-do man," the news dealer explained. "Most of his time is spent in deciding which restaurant serves the finest dinner on certain days, but when he lies down to read at home nothing short of the deepest books of knowledge will be satisfactory."

And so it goes. The flapper demands the literary reviews, the housewife the love serials, with bold, bad villains. Some men want to read about making money, while the tired business man who has not taken a vacation in 20 years always prefers stories of camp life, hunting, and fishing.

"The 'be yourself' advice is all wrong when you are selling a person a magazine," continued the news dealer. "When people choose their leisure they want to be somebody else."

BUS SWERVES, MAN FALLS OFF, IS KILLED

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Nathan Cohen, a passenger on a Fifth avenue bus, rose from his seat on the upper deck as though to go down to the rear platform to get off. The bus swerved violently in avoiding a truck at the crossing, Mr. Cohen tripped backward, lost his balance and fell to the street. He struck on his head and was killed.

WORKERS MUST 'SALT' SAVINGS

'Rainy Day' Provision Made By Utilities Concern

ABILENE, Kan., Sept. 22.—Clyde L. Brown of Abilene who, as president of the United Light and Power system of the United Telephone company, employs some 1200 people, discovered many of his employees were living from hand to mouth.

The mythical "rainy day" caused them no concern. Brown was doing their worrying, he discovered, and he immediately plunged into action.

So it happened that one morning, just a year ago, every employee upon reporting for work was told that unless he planned to save at least 10 per cent of his income in the future he must seek another job.

"We are not concerned with the other 90 per cent of your wages, but we do want to know what you do with 10 per cent of them and intend to find out," Brown told his workers.

And he did. Employees have invested in every kind of investment stock, and have shunned risky oil and blue-sky paper. All were forced to submit a report of their investments and they were gone over by an expert accountant, who is paid for doing this work alone.

A stenographer, who was investing in pretty "underthings" for her "hope chest," learned, with surprise, that this was a poor investment, and was advised to change to something more tangible which would bring in dollars and cents.

Employees who were in debt were forced to submit the amount of their liabilities and were then granted permission to apply the 10 per cent on their debts, but were cautioned not to go deeper in debt.

"It costs about $12,000 a year to keep up this system," Brown declared. "But when you think that it gives the workers a feeling of confidence in the future, it is well worth it."

CINCI LEGION SEEKS CONVENTION IN 1924

CINCINNATI, Sept. 22.—American Legion posts of Cincinnati and vicinity are launching a campaign through which it is hoped to bring the 1924 national convention of the legion to Cincinnati. Preliminary steps already have been taken to raise an entertainment fund of $125,000 to be expended for pleasure for the more than 300,000 former service men expected to attend.

USE WHITEFISH SCALES ON ARTIFICIAL PEARLS

PEACE RIVER, Alberta, Sept. 22.—As a by-product of Alberta's fishing industry the scales of the whitefish have so far been neglected. They are worth money, however, and a firm of manufacturers in Eastport, Maine, has written offering to purchase all that Alberta has to offer. The scales are used for the manufacture of fish essence, this compound being used to coat artificial pearls, and is the material responsible for their glistening appearance.

THE SUNDAY NEWS' SOCIAL AND CLUB PAGE

Few Affairs of Social Interest Recorded On Early Autumn Calendar

TALK in the social world this week is a bit disconnected. This is happening and that is happening. One is going away to study, to continue a career. One is being entertained in another city. One is being married. There is much to talk about.

With the first cool winds of the north, and the first authentic fall fashions from the east, the deep hail and farewell of society is breathed amid unprecedented excitement. Farewell to the week-end camp and the trusty bathing suit, and hail to the smart dinners, the fashionable boarding schools, the fashionable boarding schools, the fashionable boarding schools that tempt one into such delightful extravagances.

Those debutantes who are not going away to a fashionable school are probably planning for a gay season at home, without, perhaps, another engagement announced before Christmas. Just to make the season complete. And all of these take much careful planning.

Something new in the way of diversion for members of the younger set, who are not anticipating attending school this year, were the rehearsals for the amateur theatricals during the past week, which have occupied the time of so many of the younger maids making the pangs of parting and the disappointment of not attending school this year less keen. The cast of the DeMolloy play was comprised of several members of the younger set, and the cast for the American Legion Revue to be staged next week at the Elks, is practically composed of the younger contingent. The rehearsals for these theatricals have occupied so much of the time of the debutantes that very few affairs were given during the past week, and the same will hold true for the coming week, for none of special interest are recorded on the social calendar with the exception of the wedding of Miss Mary McFarland and Mr. Kyle Elam, which will be important and an outstanding event of the week.

The wedding is scheduled to take place Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the First Methodist Episcopal church, with Rev. V. A. Godbey, pastor of the First M. E. Church South, as officiant.

MRS. HOMER ARBUCKLE OF 445 Orange avenue has returned after a pleasant three months' visit with friends and relatives in San Antonio, Austin, Galveston and Houston.

MRS. OTTO AILLOI WAS CO-ED HOSTESS to Group Seven of the Missionary Society of the First M. E. Church, South, Thursday afternoon at her home, 2338 Seventh street.

An enjoyable social afternoon was enjoyed by the guests and several musical selections were rendered by Mrs. McFarland and Miss Irene Althoff. Games and contests also afforded diversion, and in an especially amusing fight contest Mrs. Wisner captured the first prize and booty fell to Mrs. Lee Book. A delicious refreshment service was offered by the hostess.

The attending Thursday's session were Mrs. Arnold, Mrs. Margaret Ball, Mrs. Lee Book, Mrs. A. I. Carter, Mrs. J. A. Peveto, Mrs. H. B. Paggi, Mrs. C. H. Gunthorpe, Sr., Mrs. A. C. Vincent, Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. McFarland, Mrs. Wisner, Mrs. Otto Althoff, and Miss Irene Althoff.

MRS. W. D. MCFADDEN WILL entertain the Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, 441 Nashville avenue. This is the first meeting of the year and it is hoped that all members will be present on account of the number of important business matters to be discussed. The treasurer has requested that all women attend the meeting prepared to pay their summer dues.

THE ROYAL NEIGHBORS WILL entertain the members of the Modern Woodmen and their families with a "pie supper" at the Woodmen hall in the Hartford building Friday evening at 8 o'clock. All members of the Royal Neighbors and the Modern Woodmen and their families are invited to attend the "pie supper."

Mrs. W. O. Nowlin will have charge of the missionary program, and it is hoped that all members will be present on account of the number of important business matters to be discussed. The treasurer has requested that all women attend the meeting prepared to pay their summer dues.

THE LATERE-GLEICKER wedding was a beautifully appointed ceremony at the First M. E. Church, South, and was attended by over two hundred guests. The wedding was of unusual interest on account of the popularity of the young couple, especially the bride who is well known in social and church circles.

The Texaco Dancing Club's open house at the Plaza was one of the smart affairs of the early fall season. About one hundred and fifty guests enjoyed the pleasures of the evening, the lovely gowns of the young women giving a colorful and pictorial charm to the evening's festivities.

Gay Japanese lanterns were used with artistic effect in the decorations of the large hall, with their soft gleams giving an added touch of picturesque.

Tenful music for dancing was furnished by Fuller's Entertainers of Beaumont, and punch was served throughout the evening.

HOLDING a prominent place on next week's social calendar is the "Japanese Banquet," which will be given Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock at the First M. E. Church, South, by the Senior Epworth League.

A delightful program of vocal selections, and readings is being arranged for the evening and will be in charge of Lee Craig. Japanese lanterns will serve the guests and Fuller's Orchestra will furnish music throughout the evening.

The decoration committee, composed of Mrs. J. C. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Starnes, Mrs. M. G.

Carlstrom, and Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Durke.

THE REBEKAHS CELEBRATED their seventy-second anniversary Friday evening with an enjoyable program and open house at the Odd Fellows hall.

An entertaining program was rendered during the evening opening with the singing of the Rebekah song by the entire assembly. Little Blanche Morgan gave a piano solo, following which W. J. Cookman gave an interesting talk concerning the organization and its history.

Miss Marian Caruth entertained with a piano solo and Mrs. A. C. Caruth gave an amusing reading. A pleasing piano solo was rendered by Miss Violet Edwards.

At the close of the program, Mr. and Mrs. Frazier were presented with a handsome gift on behalf of the lodge. Mrs. Frazier was formerly Miss Yanna Mosk.

Delicious refreshments were served by Miss Gladys Allen, Mrs. Annie Taylor and Mrs. W. L. Cookman after the program. About seventy-five guests enjoyed the occasion.

The program for the next all day session will be read at this executive meeting. The program will be in charge of the women of the First Baptist church and the all day session will be held at the Central Baptist church.

All members of the executive board are urged to be present at Monday's session.

THE MISSIONARY SOCIETY of the Congregational church will meet with Mrs. Louis Swenson Thursday afternoon at her home, 1701 Ninth street.

An interesting program has been arranged for the afternoon's study and meeting and it is hoped that all members of the Missionary Society will be in attendance.

MRS. E. GALLERY OF NEW York City arrived in the city yesterday for an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Thompson, of 2548 Fifth street. Mrs. Gallery will be remembered by a host of friends here as Miss Emma Thompson.

THE EASTERN STAR WILL meet in an important business session Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Masonic hall. All members of the organization are urged to be in attendance.

ONE OF THE DELIGHTFUL meetings of Group Six of the Missionary Society of the First M. E. Church, South, Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. D. Stuart on north Procter.

A charmingly appointed luncheon was served at 1 o'clock, and during the afternoon hours contests and musical selections were enjoyed. In the quiz on Port Arthur Mrs. C. T. Baker was awarded the prize, and in the trivia contest Mrs. E. S. Foreman captured the prize.

Mrs. Joe Stroud gave a delightful reading, "Higher Culture Dixie," following which a memory contest was held and Mrs. Lee Craig was awarded the prize.

At the business meeting, which preceded the social hour, the members planned to hold a turkey dinner within the near future, and a committee, composed of Mrs. C. B. Maule, Sr., Mrs. A. E. King, Mrs. H. W. Baird, and Mrs. C. T. Baker, was appointed to make arrangements for the affair.

The next meeting of the Altar Society will be a social and will be held Oct. 4 at the hall, with Mrs. J. T. Ferguson, Mrs. P. J. Doyle and Mrs. A. H. Barnes as hostesses.

WOMEN LIKE TO SERVE ON JURY

$3 Per Day Pin Money Is One Reason

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 22.—Jury service at $3 a day finds less than a third of those called who are willing or who can be compelled to serve, according to information compiled in municipal and district courts of Des Moines.

The municipal courts call about 155 persons at a time, from a list of voters at the last city election. Of those 20 or 35 have moved from their former residences and thus fail to get the notices, so that about 100 show up in court in answer to the call. Thirty-five more of these must be excused under the statute which exempts from jury service state and federal officers, school teachers, ministers, persons more than 67 years old, and those who are ill or disabled—unless they want to serve, and few of them do.

By the time a third of the 65 remaining jurors have equipped service for some excuse which the judge deems plausible, only 40 or so remain, and from these the juries are selected.

More women than men are willing to accept jury service, the records show. Many of the men would like to do it, but claim duties which they must not neglect. Women find time to serve on juries and keep their housework done too. Those willing to serve on juries are more numerous than before the war, judges say. The citizenship campaigns are held responsible for the awakening of them to what the judges call them is "an opportunity of citizenship."

The result, according to judges here, is that juries are more competent and intelligent than they were ten years ago, and fewer professional litigators are called on to fill the juries.

Perhaps our radio sounds like it does sound because the music passes through liquor airplanes.

DECORATED SIXTY YEARS AFTER WAR

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 22.—In 1903 Adolph Kirschner of this city, then a boy of 11, formed his own company of youthful volunteers to fight against Russia in the Polish rebellion.

Now, 66 years afterwards, he has been decorated for his services by the Polish government. The Polish medal of honor was pinned upon his breast at services here by Vice Consul Edward Kallenbach.

Kirschner organized his brigade during the Polish rebellion of 1903, when Poland refused to continue under Russian subjection. Poland was defeated. Kirschner (who was wounded in the rebellion) is now 77 years old.

He came to America 40 years ago and has lived in Syracuse since 1907. He is the only survivor in New York state of the 1903 rebellion.

CISCO GLAD T. & P. CHANGED SCHEDULE

CHICAGO, Texas, Sept. 22.—The new time card of the Texas & Pacific railroad, which has just gone into effect, is hailed with delight by Cisco folk. Other schedules have not been materially changed, but the Cisco local, which is made up in the Cisco yards, is the train that will be most popular, not only with Cisco people, but with those living in every town in Eastland and Palo Pinto counties.

OPTOMETRISTS WILL MEET AT BROWNWOOD

BROWNWOOD, Texas, Sept. 22.—The West Texas Optometrist association will meet at Brownwood, Oct. 8, which is the opening date of the Brown county fair and therefore, a large attendance of members is anticipated. This district includes practically all the territory west of Waco, and the association was organized here.

POCKETS

OLD IOWA LAW ADS DRY AGENTS

Would Punish Destruction of 'Evidence'

DES MOINES, Iowa, Sept. 22.—County and local officers engaged in enforcement of the prohibition laws will in the future find an old Iowa law, seldom invoked, as a new aid in prosecuting liquor law violators if a case pending here results as they expect it will. The old law is a statute providing a fine as high as $5000 for interference with an officer in the performance of his duty.

Many proprietors of places suspected of selling liquor have been found keeping their supply of "evidence" in a piteer or other open mouth vessel from which it may be scooped hurriedly into a sink. During a number of raids these proprietors have broken vessels in sinks, the "evidence" disappearing before the search and seizure warrant could be served.

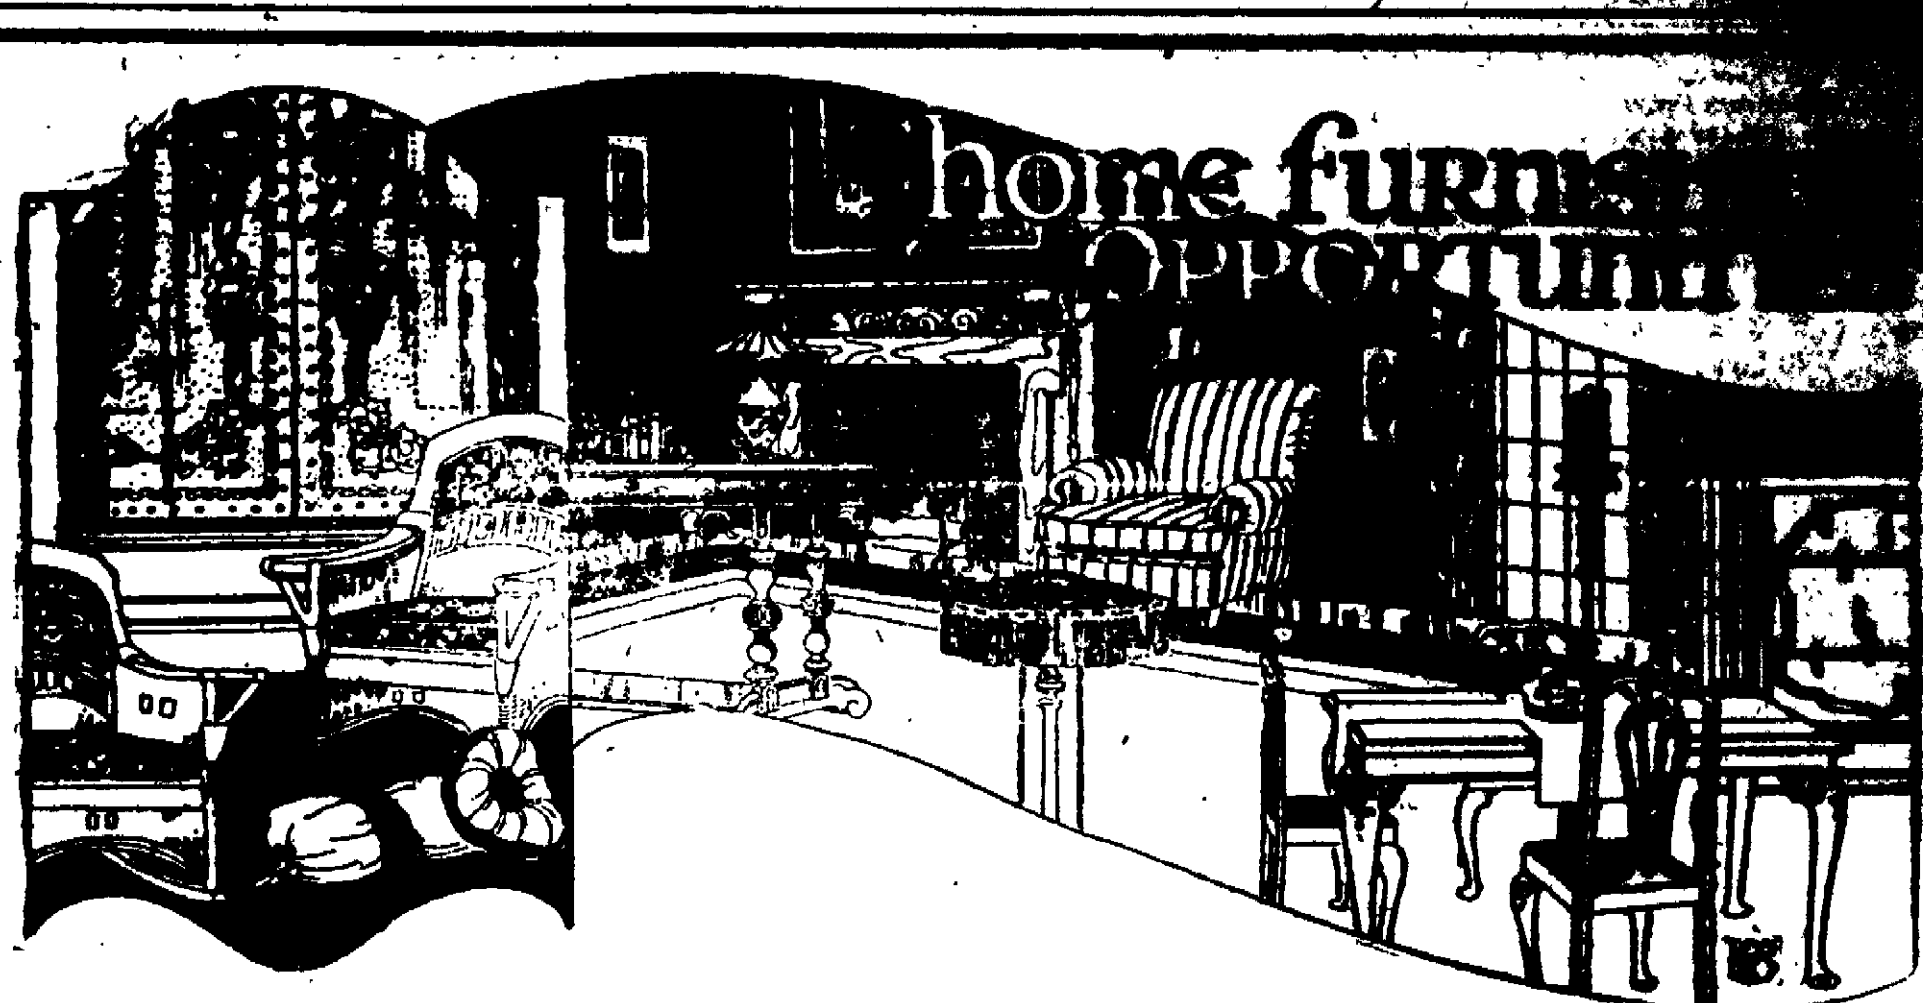

Another means of blocking the officers, they declare, is to submerge the "evidence" in vats of chemicals that cannot be analyzed for the presence of alcoholic contents. This procedure also will be stopped by enforcement of the old statute, the officers declare.

The case is that against J. H. Goodwin, who has been given a preliminary hearing and held to the grand jury for the alleged breaking of a pitcher which the officers claim contained alcohol, when they entered his place of business.

BOY DRIVEN IN BY RAIN, HANGS SELF

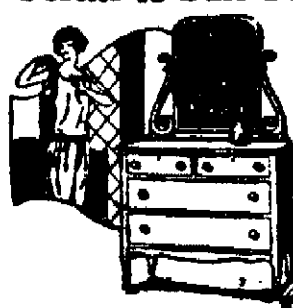

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Rain ended a baseball game in which William Douglas, 14, was playing and drove him into his home.

Both his parents were at work and William, a highly imaginative youngster, improvised a game—a pantomime of a book he had read in which a character was hanged.

SUICIDE WAVE SWEEPS JAPAN

Morbid Cult Gains Foothold
In Empire

TOKIO, Sept. 22.—A wave of suicides swept Japan this summer. The authorities, seriously alarmed at the spread of a morbid cult, are attempting so far futilely—to check the tendency.

Suicides are always more or less common in Japan. But recently the idea has become almost epidemic.

It started not long ago when Arishima, the most popular contemporary Japanese novelist, committed "shinju," or double-suicide, by hanging with one of the best-known women editors in the Japanese magazine world.

Each left families and letters explaining that since their love could not result in marriage, they had decided to kill themselves, together, in the old Japanese way.

All Japan became highly excited over the affair. Controversies, justifying and condemning the act, raged everywhere. Some of the most prominent literary and liberal in Japan, both men and women, defended the lovers and their deed.

To try to get the picture in American terms, imagine your favorite present-day novelist and one of the most prominent women publicists in America hanging themselves at the novelist's Newport villa. Imagine everybody, from cabinet members to street-car conductors, defending or condemning it. Imagine some of the most famous women feature writers in your favorite newspaper defending the act absolutely. Imagine, on the whole, a much greater volume of defense than condemnation, both from newspapers and prominent writers.

That's about the way the matter stood—and then all over Japan impressionable youths and maidens began to follow suit.

Little Johnnie Jones and Gerrie, the soda-fountain cashier—again putting it in American terms—each other very much that they will stand hand in hand beside the "L. Express" train.

Jimma Smith and Lucille, the manicurist, for the same reason, that they love each other very much, and it's the fashion to do this way, take a trip to Comby, hop overboard from the Iron Boat, and drown. Others take a whirl at rat poison, and some adopt peculiar forms of possible out.

This wave of morbid psychology, however, interesting an analytical study, has assumed most serious proportions in Japan, as the authorities see it. They're now trying to choke off discussion of the entire business.

But it has gone so far that discussion can't be stopped. For instance, recently a professor in a girl's school assigned "The Arishima Shinju" as a subject for essays. Three of the girls in the class have committed suicide and the professor has been ruined. At another school an "Arishima Club" has been organized—a pledge of membership being to perform shinju. An "Arishima dancer" has even swept the night cafes of Tokyo.

Meanwhile, Arishima's novels are selling like hot cakes. Always popular, his stuff has gone into a dozen extra editions in the last month. The press can't turn 'em out fast enough for the demand.

DEPORT ALIENS SELLING BOOZE

Iowa Police to Ask Federal Aid

DES MOINES, Iowa, Sept. 22.—Contending that deportation of alien violators of liquor laws would reduce the supply of bootleg liquor by a considerable amount, Chief of Police John Hammond of Des Moines is prepared to go before the United States district commissioner of immigration within a few days to ask the deportation of several aliens who have been convicted often enough to liquor law violations to be termed "persistent violators."

Chief Hammond has compiled figures covering the period of his incumbency to prove that more than 50 per cent of liquor law violations are aliens or immigrants who have not completed their naturalization. Of approximately 300 alleged manufacturers of bootleg liquor arrested last year, only one was American born, the chief says.

The proportions of aliens in the recent business of selling liquor is said by Hammond to be more than nine in ten.

State May Adopt Plan

Acting Governor John Hammond has told Chief of Police Hammond that if he is successful in obtaining the deportation of men who will be brought before the immigration commissioner in test cases, the plan will be urged upon peace officers all over the state.

So far as is known here the plan has not been tried out in any other state.

In presenting his case to the immigration commissioner Mr. Hammond will point out that the defendants have been convicted more than once of liquor law violations, and that their persistent violations makes them liable to deportation as undesirable citizens if they are aliens.

If they have taken out first and second papers the chief will go to federal court to ask the cancellation of their naturalization papers on the grounds that they got the papers illegally by representing themselves to be good citizens, of which he will ask that they, too, be deported.

His "Persistent Violators" Under the old Iowa law a "persistent violator" was one who had been twice convicted of violating the same clause of the liquor laws.

That provision remains in the laws as revised by the last general assembly, but a "persistent violator" is

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Sept. 19.—Transferring by or over, again, if destroyed, windmills were for years for owning and selling liquor, and thus become a "persistent violator" though he had not violated any one clause twice.

"The only way to stop bootlegging," the chief says, "is to get rid of it." A heavy rain, estimated as two inches, accompanied the storm, with leg liquor will be reduced to a few hundred of its present amount.

A stone building was blown away, it was reported.

Analysis of Exhaust Gases Results in Finding Means of Saving Gasoline

FOR RELEASE IS INCREASED

Mileage Also Conserved, Is Claim

Substantial savings of gasoline by adjustment of carburetors, based on the results of analysis of exhaust gases from automobile engines, are said to be feasible by the Department of the Interior, following experiments made by the bureau of mines on the fleet of motor trucks owned by the government fuel yard in Washington.

As the result of carburetor adjustment made by gas analysis in the bureau's experiments, an actual increase in efficiency in mileage and saving of gasoline amounting to 22 per cent was attained in the following tests:

The tests demonstrated that a portable gas analyzer for testing the exhaust gases of a motor vehicle gives a positive indication of the carburetor adjustment, removes all guesswork of such adjustment, is perfectly feasible practically, and is almost indispensable to a company having ten or more large trucks in service, especially if supplied with adjustable carburetors.

Changes Follow Tests

The government fuel yard trucks tested by the bureau of mines ranged in capacity from two and one-half to seven and one-half tons. During the winter months, when the demand for coal is heavy, from 30 to 35 trucks are used. Samples of exhaust gas were taken on the trucks kept in service for summer hauling in order to determine the carburetor adjustment as used. Changes were then made wherever possible, without sacrificing flexibility of operation and power.

In every case the adjustments were maintained for maximum power, but were adjusted to the leanest position to give that power. In all but one case the carburetors were found to be adjusted too rich for maximum power and economy.

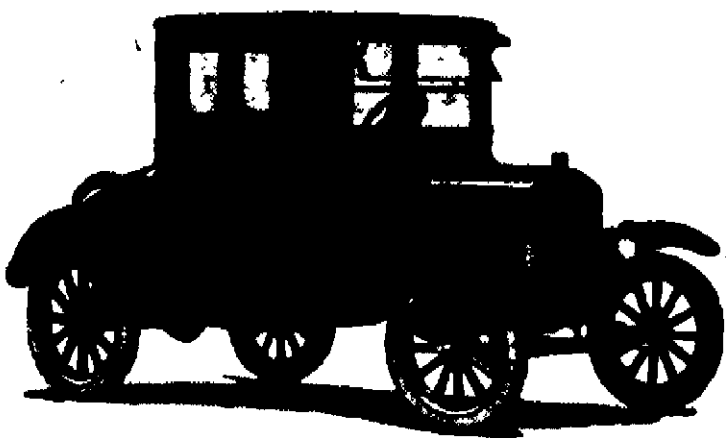

The actual increase in mileage and saving of gasoline due to the carburetor adjustments made by gas analysis, when the month previous and following the adjustments are compared, showed an increase in mileage of 22 per cent for the second month after adjustment 16 per cent, and for the third month, 9 per cent.

When the mileage is computed truck for truck, and not taking into consideration the distance each traveled during the month, the increased mileage equaled 24.7, 21.2 and 16.2 per cent, respectively.

Shows Air-Fuel Ratio

The adjustment of carburetors by analysis of exhaust gas is based upon the fact that the carbon dioxide in the exhaust is a direct indication of the air-fuel ratio and completeness of combustion.

In turn, the air-fuel ratio and completeness of combustion tells whether the carburetor is properly adjusted for maximum power and gasoline economy.

Other conditions being constant, the mileage obtainable varies as the percentage of carbon dioxide in the exhaust gas and air-fuel ratio. This has been little realized by most garage men in the past.

The other factors are carefully watched and guarded against, while carburetor adjustment is usually left to the mechanic or driver, who adjusts according to his own notions.

There are, however, exceptions to this rule. A determination of the carbon dioxide content of the exhaust gas while the vehicle is being operated on the road gives a positive indication of the carburetor adjustment, and removes all guesswork.

Urges a 'Daily Dozen' For Eyes of Motorists

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Speedy eye movements are many times a matter of life or death to motorists. This is the opinion, based on research of Dr. W. B. Needles, who addressed the Chicago Optometrist society Saturday.

"Slow eye movements are often the cause of accidents which could be avoided if the motorist would subject the eye muscles to regular exercises and cleansing treatment," he asserted.

"A fraction of a second greater speed is a wonderful asset to a prize fighter, a ball player or an automobile driver," he said. "Optometrists were urged to make various tests and provide exercises for those who fail to make two complete oscillations of the eyes each second.

"The present vogue of the closed car," Dr. Needles said, "increased accident and death rate. The driver cannot see behind or on the side so well as in an open car."

Carburetor trouble will often result in overheating of the muffler.

The throttle lever on the steering wheel is more economical on fuel than the foot accelerator.

Water pump glands are usually packed with rope or hemp which is impregnated with graphite.

NEW DODGE HAS LOTS OF ROOM

Seats Roomy and Deep and Clutch Is Easier

It is evident from the expressions of buyers and prospective buyers that a marked improvement has been made in the riding qualities of Dodge Brothers motor cars. No one who calls at the salesrooms to inspect the new line misses an opportunity to sit in the deep and roomy seats and comment on their exceptional comfort. The seats and body are considerably lower than before, not only adding to riding ease, but affording much more leg room.

"In addition," says E. P. Baker, "the gear shift lever has been moved forward, giving an unusual amount of room; the instruments have been grouped on an attractive panel, and the leverage of the clutch pedal has been altered in such a way that the slightest pressure of the foot answers the purpose. This latter improvement is of especial interest to women, who find it a great convenience in driving in heavy traffic."

Current interruption is often caused by corrosion, brought about by allowing the battery to sleep over.

Defective gaskets, which permit a leak to exist, or which obstructs the free circulation of water through the system, will unaccountably cause overheating.

"The more tired your car is the further it will go," says Speed O'Day.

Care of the Horn—It Needs Thought, Also

Because the horn gives little trouble, little attention has been paid to it, and few people ever give it a drop of oil. The horn usually outlasts the car if conscientiously oiled. It is not necessary to oil it as frequently as the other mechanism of the car—twice a year being sufficient.

It takes but a few minutes to oil the horn.

the motorist to be sure that his horn is always in operating condition.

If the horn does not work, Gene Rayborn of the Port Arthur Tire and Sporting Goods company suggests the following check-up:

Is the battery sufficiently charged? Test voltage at horn terminals. The volt meter should show at least five and a half volts when horn is operating.

Are electrical connections tight and free from corrosion? Is wiring properly insulated and free from accidental grounding? Is wiring of proper size? Gauge 14 or 16 should be used.

Are push-button controls corroded or out of adjustment?

Has horn been properly lubricated? And just a last word—give the other fellow a chance! Blow your horn more frequently—not to say to the other fellow, "Get out of my way!" but to inform him of your presence.

Is Your Car Worth Anything?

No indeed, that isn't a foolish question. Many a car, and some of them high-priced, too, are treated in such manner as to put them on the road to the junk yard. How do you treat your car? Do you regard it the same as you would a piano, or any other piece of high-priced property? Then listen: At the first sign of trouble—knock, squeek, groan—anything, bring it here and let us look it over. We'll save you money and time.

PUBLIC OKEHS POPULAR BUICK

New Model Revolutionizes Motordom, Says May

"The thousands of people who have inspected the new 1924 Buick motor cars and those who have been given demonstrations of the power and riding qualities of the latest creations of the Buick engineers, are loud in their praise of the cars offered this season," declares Mart May of the Smith-May Motor company, Buick dealers here.

"All, indeed," he continued, "inasmuch as I have kept in touch with the experimental tests which have been going on for more than a year at the plant in Flint, Mich., the car offered this year was no distinct surprise to me. However, the secret employed by the officials of the factory and the newspaper campaign of the past week, created a lot of interest on the part of every motorist."

Through the adoption of regular equipment of four-wheel brakes Buick is making a step forward that must be followed by other manufacturers. It is not an experiment. For years all of the expensive foreign makes of automobiles have been equipped with four-wheel brakes, which have given the utmost satisfaction, both from a driving standpoint as well as safety.

Engineers have been at work for over two years perfecting these brakes, and during this period cars equipped with the new system have been driven over 150,000 miles in order to prove their reliability under all sorts of road conditions.

"In designing four-wheel brakes there are many factors of safety that must be considered and engineers have done this in their construction by increasing the strength of the front axle, steering parts."

"One of the outstanding features of the four-wheel brake construction as applied in the Buick car is that when making an extreme right or left hand turn the outside wheel, that is, the wheel traveling at greatest distance, is automatically thrown out of the action of the steering knuckles turning in their direction. The result is that the outside front wheel is not doing any of the braking when turning a corner. The wheel on the inside of the curve is the only one that is doing the braking on the front wheels."

"The front wheel brakes are built to do 40 per cent of the braking while the rear wheels have to perform 60 per cent of the braking. By this construction, it would be impossible to have the front wheel's braking power than the rear wheels. This is done through the use of different sized levers. The emergency brakes are located at the rear wheels only. They are of the internal expanding type."

"The front wheels are equalized with the rear wheels, but they are not equalized one wheel to the other, because if they were the same pressure would be applied to the wheel on the outside of the curve. The one that is on the inside of the curve, in the construction of Buick cars, do equalize all four brakes, one to the other, due to the fact that if the equalizing cable should break it would immediately put all four brakes out of commission."

Evidence of Backlash In Car Steering Gear

Backlash is evident when it is continually necessary to edge the front wheels first in one direction and then in the other to keep the car running straight at low speeds, or when the hand wheel can be turned any appreciable amount without a corresponding movement of the pitman arm.

Kept Its Glass So Well Why That Old Carriage

The remark is heard that good vehicles are not made nowadays as they used to be, the example being cited of the family coach which stood up for several years in beautiful condition without going to the paint shop. The one relating this history did not give the matter proper consideration or investigation, or he would have found many reasons for the apparent differences in the quality of the finish.

It will be recalled how carefully the old coachman used to be never to allow a speck of dust or the suggestion of a mud spot to remain on any part of the equipment after bringing it in from the short journey which was taken, usually on a pleasant day. Many individuals who employed a coachman were almost as painstaking and often spread a cover over their vehicle when not in use.

Think of how differently most automobiles are treated. It is true that many chauffeurs and private owners accord their motor cars the same care

WILLYS MOTOR IS REVELATION

The Famous Engine Design Burns Last Atom of Gas

Practically every automobile motor made today has an artificial limitation, in which the gas is precluded in the process of sending it from the carburetor into the expansion chambers of the motor. But few indeed are motors that through the happy chance of design have a natural hot point within the chamber itself, an added guarantee that even a low-grade gasoline will be thoroughly vaporized before ignition.

In the Willys-Knight motor, famous as the sleeve valve motor "that improves with use," the gas is taken into the expansion chamber through a port in the cylinder wall, the gas passing through the opening as the parts of the two inner sleeves, register with the opening in the cylinder wall. It is exploded, and is expelled through a port similar to that by which it entered, but located opposite to the point at which it entered the chamber.

As the burned gas is expelled from the port it gives a steady heat to that section of the sleeves and creates a natural hot point. When the next charge of gas into the motor it streams straight across the chamber, strikes the natural hot-point and rebounds to be exploded by the ignition system. The slot of the exhaust port of the inner sleeve-valve is up behind the compression ring, protected by two water-cooled surfaces from heat, but so slight is this movement, that the adjacent sector of the inner sleeves is to all intents a natural hot-point.

The large unobstructed valve openings permit rapid exhaust of all "dead" gas from the combustion chamber. The spherically shaped combustion chamber made possible by the sleeve-valve construction, has no pockets in which dead gas may linger. The location of the spark plug directly in the center of the cylinder heads, in the other to keep the car running straight at low speeds, or when the hand wheel can be turned any appreciable amount without a corresponding movement of the pitman arm.

DRY BATTERY COSTLY HOBBY

Wear Out, Must Soon Be Replaced

One of the most common complaints that radio set owners are constantly making concerning the necessity for replacing their dry battery comes after a few months of use.

The automobile is used in all kinds of weather, suffers the extremes of heat and cold and the exposure of rain, snow and mud. The sun is the worst destroyer of all, and how many of us thoughtlessly leave their cars parked all day long in the glare of the sun's rays, and then wonder why the more nearly horizontal parts of the car, such as the cowl or deck, show signs of wear in a couple of months. Not many people nowadays feel negligent if they do not immediately have their car washed after being out during a rainstorm on muddy roads, and yet it formerly was considered almost as necessary to carefully wash the carriage as it was to feed the horses.

To a smooth finish. There are no rough surfaces to which carbon can readily cling.

On the surfaces of the sliding sleeves, carbon is encouraged to collect in grooves cut in the outer sleeves above and below the exhaust port. It gives the sleeves a glass-like finish protecting their surface from wear and making them run even more quietly and smoothly.

Thus the Willys-Knight motor, making a benefit of carbon, becomes more powerful and even more quiet with use.

GOVERNMENT AFTER GRADE CROSSINGS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Re-

cause of the ever-increasing slaughter of motorists at grade crossings, the bureau of public roads has started a campaign for the elimination of those "death traps," which total 50,000 in the United States.

Death sentences against 214 dangerous railroad crossings in 25 states are now being carried out by the bureau.

New surveys are being made of public roads, and when a highway is to be constructed with federal aid, extreme efforts are made to avoid any grade crossings. One-third of the rail crossings on roads being thus constructed are being eliminated.

Lubricating Springs Stops Undue Wear

Because spring leaves slide on each other, they squeak and bring about undue wear if not properly lubricated. At regular intervals, the slides of the leaves should be painted with a stiff brush and cylinder oil. After applying the oil, the car should not be washed until it has run some distance, to allow the lubricant to work between the leaves. Try painting the outer surfaces of your spring leaves with rust preventive—it has its effect.

Popping back of the carburetor is exceedingly dangerous if the carburetor has just been primed and if there is much of a leak.

Port Arthur Motor Row

A car went up a hill on high—it went so fast it came to fly. It pulled and pulled and pulled, but that's the kind of a hill it was.

"Every Red Bird sells another," declares Horace Hightman. "Sure got 'em talking about it."

"They gotta buy gas and tires you see, so a little bit of rain don't bother me," says Bert Hughes. Bert used to be a ministered man, you know.

"You can't judge a book by the cover," remarks Gene Rayburn, "but you sure can tell the value of a battery by the name on it." Gene, by the way, handles Willards.

Harry Singletary was looking glass. "Got one of those handsome foreign cars at Houston and can't deliver it as long as this confounded rain keeps up," he said recently.

The big call for General cord tires doesn't stop Gene Rayburn from going fishing. Caught a big string last week.

"And the little old Ford just rumbles along," behind the tractor nearly every day.

But shillie off the big demand for Chevrolet, Philip Infman thinks the sales today are nothing to what they will be in a short time. "Too many lookers not to be future buyers," quoth Phil.

Johnnie Rizer, the smiling owner of the Lone Star garage and Lone Star transfer, says Port Arthur ought to be a warm town this winter at the rate they are buying coal.

C. E. Booz informs us that there is certainly a demand for Maxwells and Chalmers in Port Arthur. "Just look around you anywhere in town and see for yourself," says C. E.

Port Arthur drivers know a good tire when they see it, according to C. C. Hurrell, manager of John R. Adams hardware store. "They sure are gobbling up Maxwells," grins Cullen.

"Selling Dodge cars is easy," says E. P. Baker. "And keeping 'em sold is easier. Our service department takes care of that."

A car should be run slowly over rough roads in wet weather, not only for safety's sake, but the tires cut less when wet.

Cone Clutch Slippage

Though fuller's earth is generally used to stop cone clutch slippage, ordinary talcum powder will answer quite as well. If the facing appears dry and shiny, an overnight application of neat-foot or castor oil will soften it.

An excessive accumulation of carbon is evident when the engine knocks on a hard pull with the spark slightly advanced.

A weak exhaust valve will cause uneven running of the engine.

GOOD ON ANY ROAD

Save Files by Putting Them Safely on Rack

While the file is an inexpensive tool, it should have proper care in order to permit it to give satisfactory service. One of the most destructive customs is that of throwing files, fine and coarse, large and small, into a drawer filled with cold chisels, hammers and other tools, and then throwing these on the floor. This sort of storage has a tendency to chip and dull the teeth, in fact, it requires but a slight knocking upon a hard surface to dull them for many kinds of work. They should be stored in racks so arranged that the teeth cannot touch one another.

WIRE STRAND SAVES MOTORIST FROM DEATH

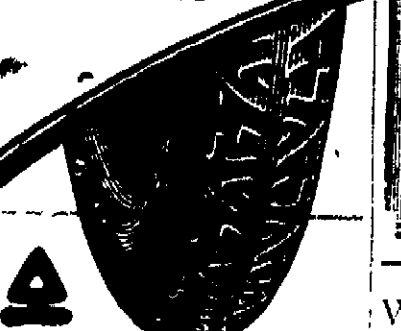

BERLIN, Wis., Sept. 22.—A single strand of wire saved the life of Frank Betchkal, local theater owner, when a high-powered car he was driving crashed off a bridge near here.

A telephone cable held the car from dropping into the Fox river. Betchkal climbed out of a window and slid down the side of the car about 10 feet to the water below. The automobile was wrecked before it fell into the river. Betchkal was not injured.

More Grip on the Road!
Buick Four-wheel Brakes
Buick four-wheel brakes give all 1924 Buick cars twice the amount of grip on the road, thereby doubling their braking efficiency. It is the friction or grip of the tire on the road surface that brakes or slows down the car.
Buick four-wheel brakes not only provide a greater power to stop in case of emergency but, because of this four-wheel road grip, reduce skidding dangers to a minimum.
In turning, Buick four-wheel brake construction automatically releases whichever is the outside or guiding front wheel so it is instantly responsive to the steering mechanism.
Buick four-wheel brake construction distributes braking friction over four drums and four wheels. This reduces wear on brake linings and tires, thereby assuring their longer life and greater efficiency, with fewer adjustments.
Buick four-wheel brakes (on all models) together with countless other distinctive features of the 1924 cars further establish Buick as the Standard of Comparison.

THE MALONE IN AIR SERVICE

Port Arthur Boy in Marine Corps Maneuvers

Marching through the hills of Virginia with the east coast expeditionary force of the U. S. marine corps, Lt. Leonard Malone, of Port Arthur, Tex., is taking part in a series of maneuvers which began August 27 and will not be completed until October 7, when the force returns to its base at Quantico, according to word received by friends here.

Many unusual features are being carried out in connection with the maneuvers, including visits to the civil war battlefields at Gettysburg, Winchester and New Market. At the latter place an historic spectacle of the battle of New Market is being presented by the Marines in conjunction with the cadets of the Virginia Military Institute. Football and baseball games, moving pictures, athletic and educational features alternate between military marches and battle scenes, Malone said.

Malone is a son of Mrs. Polly Malone, 616 Between boulevard. He joined the Marine corps at Houston last May. He is now attached to the aviation force and will help prepare the planes for flight.

17 IN DRAGNET ON 4 CHARGES

Constable's Department Has Hectic Saturday

In one of the largest series of raids conducted here in some time, some 17 men were arrested between sunrise and midnight last night by Constable H. E. Baker and Deputy Constable Riley, on charges ranging from liquor violations to speeding and gambling.

Ham Rogers, caught, officers allege, with a quart of whiskey in his possession on the canal bank near the Pleasure Pier bridge, was arrested and held on state charges of possessing liquor.

For the possession of a pint of liquor, "Chip" Souder, 1101 Houston, was arrested and held on federal charges of possession.

Frank Ferris, 221 Eleventh street, was arrested on a similar charge when members of the raiding party found a gallon of whiskey when they searched his place.

Four parties that involving it is alleged by officers, the seizure of several pocket watches from a man named Joe Williams and King Robinson, both men were arrested by officers.

Joe Dugan was also arrested on charges of carrying concealed weapons.

Included in the list of arrests last night by Constable Baker, seven men entered pleas of guilty before Justice of the Peace James, to gambling with cards and were each fined $10 and costs. They paid off.

Billy Malone was arrested in a raid on the New Brown House when officers allege they found a pint bottle almost full of liquor.

Seven speeders and two drunks completed the list up to 2 o'clock this morning.

Justice Exceeded Power In Sending Boy to Cell

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 22.—A justice of the peace in Crawford, who sentenced a boy to the Wisconsin Industrial School for Boys, exceeded his authority, J. E. Messerschmidt, assistant attorney general, held today.

He advised the board of control that a justice of the peace may not legally commit boys to penal institutions.

The boy involved should be remanded to the sheriff for return to the justice of the peace, who will then transfer the case to the juvenile court, the attorney general's department held.

LOCAL SITE FOR ANDY GUMP WOULD BE ECONOMICAL

"Since my good friend Major Hooper first presented the possibility of Port Arthur to me as a site for my factory," Andy Gump is quoted as saying, "I have become all the more impressed with the place."

Some few days ago Port Arthur announced itself in the field for the $250,000 factory Mr. Gump will start constructing soon, in order to have a factory of his own in which to produce his own to forgetful people.

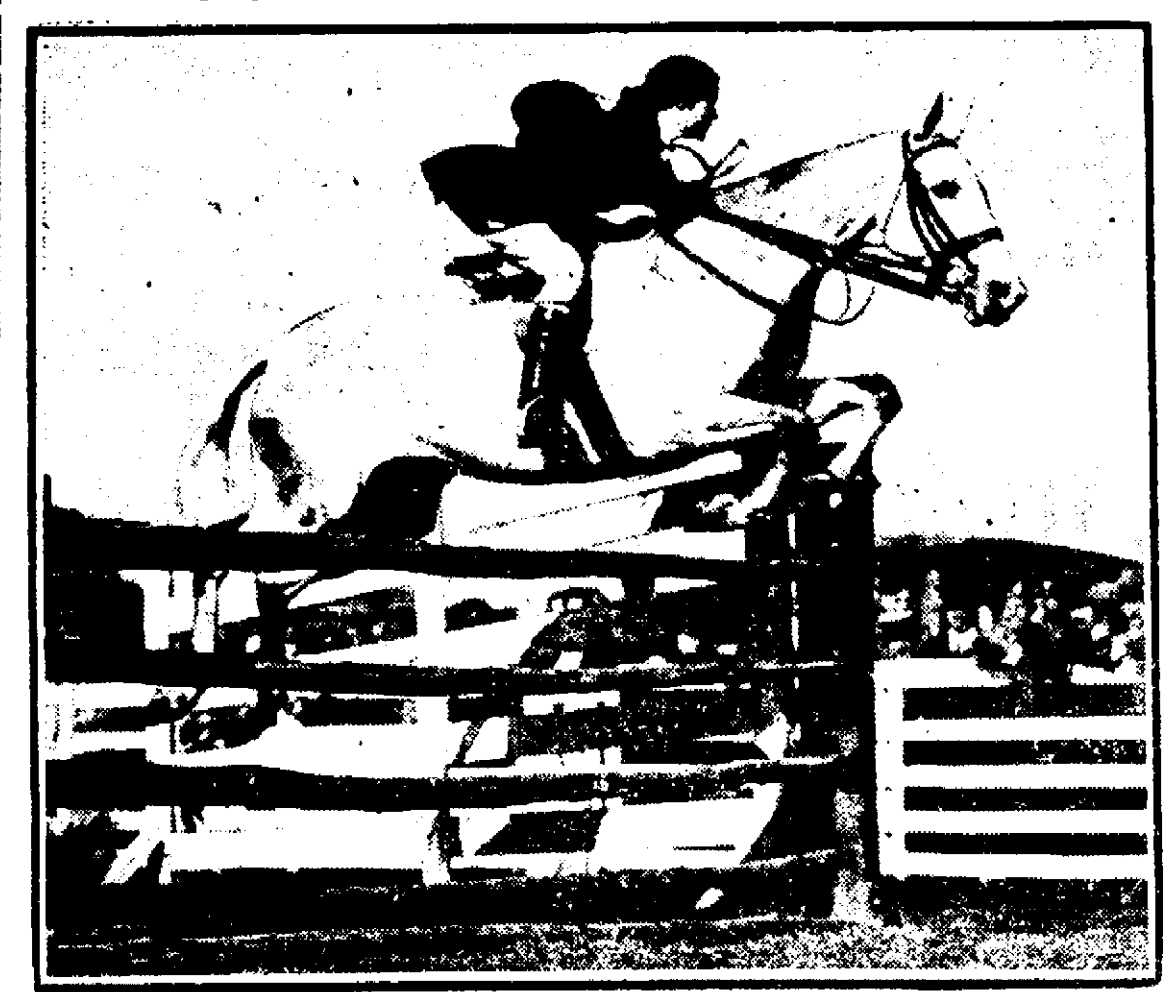

"In a high altitude, as I see it, it is necessary for airplanes to climb to a great height before they can get under way. Having attained this height in coming to Port Arthur the planes will have a further distance to vol-plane to earth, consequently the engine may be shut off at greater distance from Port Arthur than it might be the town situated on a higher altitude.

"Such a strickler for details as I could not overlook the possibility of enormous savings in fuel costs entailed by a further coasting ability of our plane service.

Asked relative to his further plans for his plane service, President Gump, indicated that he would put Min in the general superintendent's chair in charge of all the planes.

"Min can get up in the air quicker, stay there longer and use less energy about it than anyone I know," Mr. Gump said in explaining the choice.

IT'S EASY—WHEN YOU KNOW HOW

"Taking the hurdles isn't so bad—when you take 'em," says Miss Betty Berry shown here on Silver Crest at the Greenwalds Conn. horse show. The thrill of the steeplechase, however, comes in the fact that not all the horses get over.

'Gator, Sea Gull, Bosom Zoo Friends

It may not be straw showing the wind blowing toward the fulfillment of the prophecy about lions living down with hounds, but anyway the sight of a seagull strutting around a small enclosure with a five foot alligator, even resting on the big reptile's body, is reported by Edgar Brown, operator of the pier bridge.

"The sea gull pecks away in the pen with the alligator, even flying over and returning again to sit on the big 'gator's snout back and upon its forehead, while the alligator does away without minding his companion," Brown said.

Approach of a person or a dog causes his pen sets the alligator hissing and blowing, and if he is molested, he thrashes about with his tail and snaps his jaws at his antagonist, according to Brown. The particular tie between alligator and sea gull that makes them occupy these quarters without a display of the reptile's viciousness is unknown to him, Brown said.

Transmarine Flagship Here To Hold Open House Today

Converted Motor Ship Shows Latest Wrinkles in Marine Type Diesel Engine Propulsion

Open house aboard the motor vessel Supheno, flag ship of the Transmarine corporation's fleet, from 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, is arranged by Captain Milton Roberts, of the Supheno, and Transmarine corporation officials in Port Arthur. James L. Boyd, manager of the Port Arthur Transmarine terminals, said Saturday.

The vessel is docked at the coastwise docks, just below the grain elevator, and a sheltered road extends from the end of the West Seventh street and docks road pavement right to the ship, making it possible for automobiles to get directly to the vessel, Boyd said.

The feature of the Supheno is the American built six-cylinder, four-cylinder 20 H diesel engine, delivering over 1800 and 2000 horsepower for the ship.

Low Fuel Consumption. Despite the size of the engine, its consumption of fuel is about one-fourth that of oil burning steamships, or 40 tons daily when underway, against an average daily consumption of 18 to 20 tons daily.

E. M. Rooney, superintendent of machinery installation for the Craig company, of Jersey City, and Mr. Connel, guaranteed engineer, are on the ship, having made the voyage to Port Arthur for the purpose of observing at first hand the workings of the ship's engine.

Craig designer and builder of the engine, was aboard the Supheno from Port Newark to Pensacola.

"This is the Supheno's maiden voyage, operated as a motor ship," Rooney said. "Not a bit of trouble developed and the ship made record time. The ship bringing the ship from Port Arthur declared it was the easiest ship to handle he'd ever been on."

Features pointed out by Rooney in the Craig type of Diesel engine include the lower exhaust, which keeps the exhaust temperature down to 400 degrees, while other Diesels usually have a register of 550 degrees, he said. This consequently reduced a minimum of 100 degrees in the engine's six cylinders. A direct drive shaft to the ship's propeller, developing 165 revolutions per minute, gives the Supheno a speed of 12 knots, Rooney said.

Electrically Equipped. Electrical equipment of all the auxiliary machinery on the Supheno, including the deck winches, steering engine and pumps, also is cited as unusual in cargo ship construction by officers on the Supheno. Current for the auxiliaries is furnished by generators driven by a Diesel engine. The fuel capacity of the ship is 1050 tons, enough to carry the Supheno around the world without refueling, Captain Robert said.

Explaining the principle of the Craig Diesel engine operation, Rooney said all and all under heavy pressure enter the cylinders, where combustion results from the sudden mixing of the compressed air and oil, no spark, gunning being necessary. A muffler installed in the smoke stack, Rooney said, completely deadens the noise of the engine, he said.

Vibration resulting from the operation of the engine also is almost entirely absorbed by the piston rods, which are attached to the big Diesel engine, which weighs several hundred tons, Rooney said.

Two-Faced Gour,
Aft, to Come Next

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—When a fair lady turns her back on you next fall don't let it puzzle you. The key thing may be simple "showing off" a woman's latest wrinkle—the two-faced gown.

For fronts and backs of gowns will be no more akin than the east and west. From the approach you will never recognize the retreat of the fashionable sidewalk stroller. The back of the gown she is wearing, for instance, may be as strange and flat and tight as the designer can possibly mold it, while the front will burst forth in tier upon tier of ruffles, ruffles, or view versa. If she is a thoroughgoing business woman she will detach her bustle during business hours and don it for in glancing hours and don it for dancing time. Gowns will exhibit the same snuff of the double trait. In the morning they may be draped black satin, while in the afternoon they'll turn themselves inside out in all the luxuriance of snowy white ermine. All this contrivance is touched for an important commercial thorough by the infallible Fashion Art League.

Charge Gambling in Shriner Benefit

BEAUMONT, Texas, Sept. 22.—Members of the ministerial association here formally protested against gambling devices at the Shrine circus here Friday in a statement to Bob Morton, manager of the shows. Mr. Morton declared that he was surprised at the action, adding that he had taken a number of ministers over the grounds several days ago and it was his belief that no objection was made to the wheels.

The letter received by Mr. Morton follows: "Dear sir: The undersigned are members of the committee from the pastors' association of the city to protest to the Shrine patrol against the use of gambling devices in the Shrine circus.

"You, as manager of the shows assured said committee that gambling devices had been abolished and substituted with scientific and educational devices, altogether unobjectionable to anybody, and yet cordially invited the ministers to attend the circus and examine the exhibits, assuring them that should they find anything objectionable you would 'cut it out.'

"In good faith we attended the circus Monday night, Sept. 17, and saw the exhibits. We respectfully declare to you that we find the devices now used as objectionable in every way as was the former 'wheels,' the only difference being in the manner of their use but exactly the same principle.

"Our judgment is that they should every one be discontinued and so request as you promised.

Respectfully,
"H. V. Watts,
"T. F. Herndon,
"W. F. Davis,
"J. W. Mills."

Shrine members in charge of the circus here expressed the belief that the request was unreasonable and that the wheels would be run today, the last day of the circus. Part of the receipts from the ticket sale today and tonight will be turned over to the day relief fund.

Young Quakers Restore
Ancient Meeting House

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The old Quaker meeting house at Cootham, Sussex, is being restored by a party of young Quakers, who include two London University students, a painter, a gardener, two teachers and a school-boy. One of the party is a German.

William Penn, who lived at Warminster, six miles away, from 1673 until he emigrated to America, attended this meeting house and preached there. When Penn sailed for America many Cootham Quakers accompanied him, and gradually the meeting house fell into disuse.

About a hundred years ago it was painted a deep-blue color, and since then has been known locally as the "Blue Idol Meeting House" or more often simply as the "Blue Idol." Now, however, most of the blue color has been scraped from the quaint little church—a small timbered farm-

No one was injured, although a score of persons narrowly escaped being wounded and a panic was caused in a restaurant, where the man fired three shots.

PINCHOT AND HIS SENATORS

Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania may let the bee bite him and then travel a long way. Pinchot forced a settlement of the anthracite strike. That settlement placed thirty-two million dollars in the pockets of the miners and eighteen million dollars in the pockets of the mine owners.

Now the hard coal dealers are furious. They have a national organization. This organization declares that Pinchot did not treat the dealers right. In the settlement they received none of the velvet.

They were not ignored. Governor Pinchot notified President Coolidge that the eye of the nation was on the dealers or should be on the dealers and that drastic action should be taken to prevent the dealers from gouging the hard coal buyers this winter.

Why should Pinchot worry? When he was a candidate for governor the mine owners and the hard coal dealers gave their votes to his rival. They declared that Pinchot was erratic, that he was headstrong, that he was dictatorial and had scant respect for vested rights.

On the other hand eighty-five per cent of the coal miners of Pennsylvania cast their ballots for Pinchot and thus enabled him to win a remarkable victory over the candidate of the bosses and the corporations of Pennsylvania.

Having won the strike Pinchot congratulated Coolidge on its termination. Having received the Pinchot wire Coolidge sent a reply congratulating Pinchot for his patriotic endeavor and splendid results.

Pennsylvania has two republican senators—George Wharton Pepper and David A. Reed. They were not for Pinchot when he was a candidate for governor. They are not against Pinchot now that he is all powerful in the politics of Pennsylvania.

These wise men visited Washington the other day. They paid their respects to the president. They did not board his band wagon. They promised to uphold his hands by their votes in pushing the Harding policies this winter. They bowed themselves out.

They told the correspondents on the outside that it would be indecorous for them to pledge their support in a presidential sense to Coolidge as Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania may be a presidential possibility later along in the year.

Not if the old guard of the republican party has the power to prevent his nomination. Pinchot is a man of immense wealth. He is as independent as an Indian warrior on his native hills. He has no use for political machines nor machine leaders—unless it happens the machines are of his own making and the leaders of his own choice.

It required a two-thirds vote to nominate a republican presidential candidate there would be a chance for a deadlock in the republican convention next year out New England, New York, Ohio and the solid south promise to get in behind Coolidge and it thus happens it will all be over but the applause in so far as the nomination goes.

President Coolidge has not disturbed the Harding office holders. He promises to cling to the Harding policies. He arranged for another to pacify the hard coal miners and the coal barons of Pennsylvania. He is not digging up more snakes than he can kill.

He has declared himself for a government of and by the constitution. He has eight months to make or to mar his future. He isn't going to marry it by any wild plunge. He is a New Englander. He knows how to curb his tongue and to keep close to shore.

AMERICAN WHEAT.

Bread should be a cheap article of food this winter, that is if the doctrine of supply and demand has anything to do with the case. North America has five hundred million to five hundred and fifty million bushels of wheat for export this season, according to trade estimates made on the basis of Canadian and American crop reports after a liberal carry over at the end of 1922-23 crop year is allowed for.

Canada is a great wheat producing country and the Canadian crop is officially estimated at 470,000,000 bushels, or seventy million bushels more than were harvested last year, and the largest on record. With this tremendous surplus of North American wheat, Senator Magnus Johnson and his followers would have the congress of the United States appropriate money for the buying and storing of a half million bushels of wheat until a crop year comes.

There is an over production of wheat on the continent of North America. All the countries on the continent of Europe which grow wheat report increased production this year. Russian peasants planted a large acreage and the harvesting of a bumper crop with a large surplus for export has been announced.

France harvested a larger crop of wheat than in any year since the coming of peace. This shows that all the war ridden countries are coming back. The first step in the come back of any country devastated by war is to produce crops for home consumption with a surplus for export and this is what the countries of continental Europe are doing this year.

There are thousands of American wheat growers in the northwest who paid fabulous prices for land in war time and they gave mortgages on their holdings for the payment of their acquisitions. When wheat slumped from $1.25 to as low as ninety cents a bushel it meant financial loss or disaster for the

LETTERS FROM FATHER STILWELL

To S. H. Crosby,
Chairman Industrial Committee,
Chamber of Commerce,
Friend Sam—

We don't like to be continually patting people on the back, but we can't help but admire the efficiency of the present Chamber Industrial committee of which you are chairman. The work you are doing is of the utmost importance and, we believe, the first real constructive work ever attempted along this line.

Sincerely,
FATHER STILWELL.

To J. A. Barnes, Attorney,
Beaumont, Texas,
Dear Barnes—

We heard your address Thursday on "The Constitution" before the Rotary club and enjoyed it. Our memory was waked back to our school days when we studied constitutional history and it helped renew our faith and belief in the fundamentals of good governments such as we were taught when beginning our high school career. Thanks and come again.

As Ever,
FATHER STILWELL.

To Col. Duff, promoter,
Waco to Port Arthur railroad,
Dear Colonel—

The future of Port Arthur depends a good deal upon new roads entering this thriving industrial community. For this reason we welcome your efforts to promote a new road to this city and hope that your plans include water terminals somewhere in this vicinity. We are yours to command.

Sincerely,
FATHER STILWELL.

To Will Adams,
Chairman, Boys' Committee,
Rotary Club,
City,
Friend Will—

Just heard about your work in trying to get all boys of high school age to continue their school work. Fine stuff. The future of Port Arthur is all wrapped up in the kind of youthful citizens we turn out and we know of no better place to instill proper training than under the influence of Prof. Carter.

Keep it up,
FATHER STILWELL.

To Jupiter Phynix,
Keeper of Ram,
Somewhere Above
Friend Jupe—

Can that rain stuff. Turn off the spigot. The next time you get the bunch to dis us a cloud or two, for the lunatic change your mind. The ground is soaked with water now to overflowing—and besides, every time it rains our raincoat is somewhere else.

Yours for a 'dry' city,
FATHER STILWELL.

To George Sims, Superintendent
Port Arthur Schools,
City,
Dear George—

So Port Arthur has more scholars than Beaumont? Well that's to be expected isn't it? Haven't we a larger population? Anyway the large school attendance reflects a great deal of credit upon you and the school board for the very efficient manner in which our schools are conducted.

More power to you,
FATHER STILWELL.

To Smith Brothers Construction Co.
Port Arthur and Beaumont
Gentlemen—

We understand that a very careful check of the paving you are doing in Port Arthur has shown that every specification has been lived up to and your work so far is satisfactory. We congratulate you. First because Port Arthur has had a large dose of imperfect paving and second because taxpayers are getting tired of paying for the same job twice.

Keep up the good work,
FATHER STILWELL.

To Henry Lohman,
City at Large,
Port Arthur,
Dear Henry—

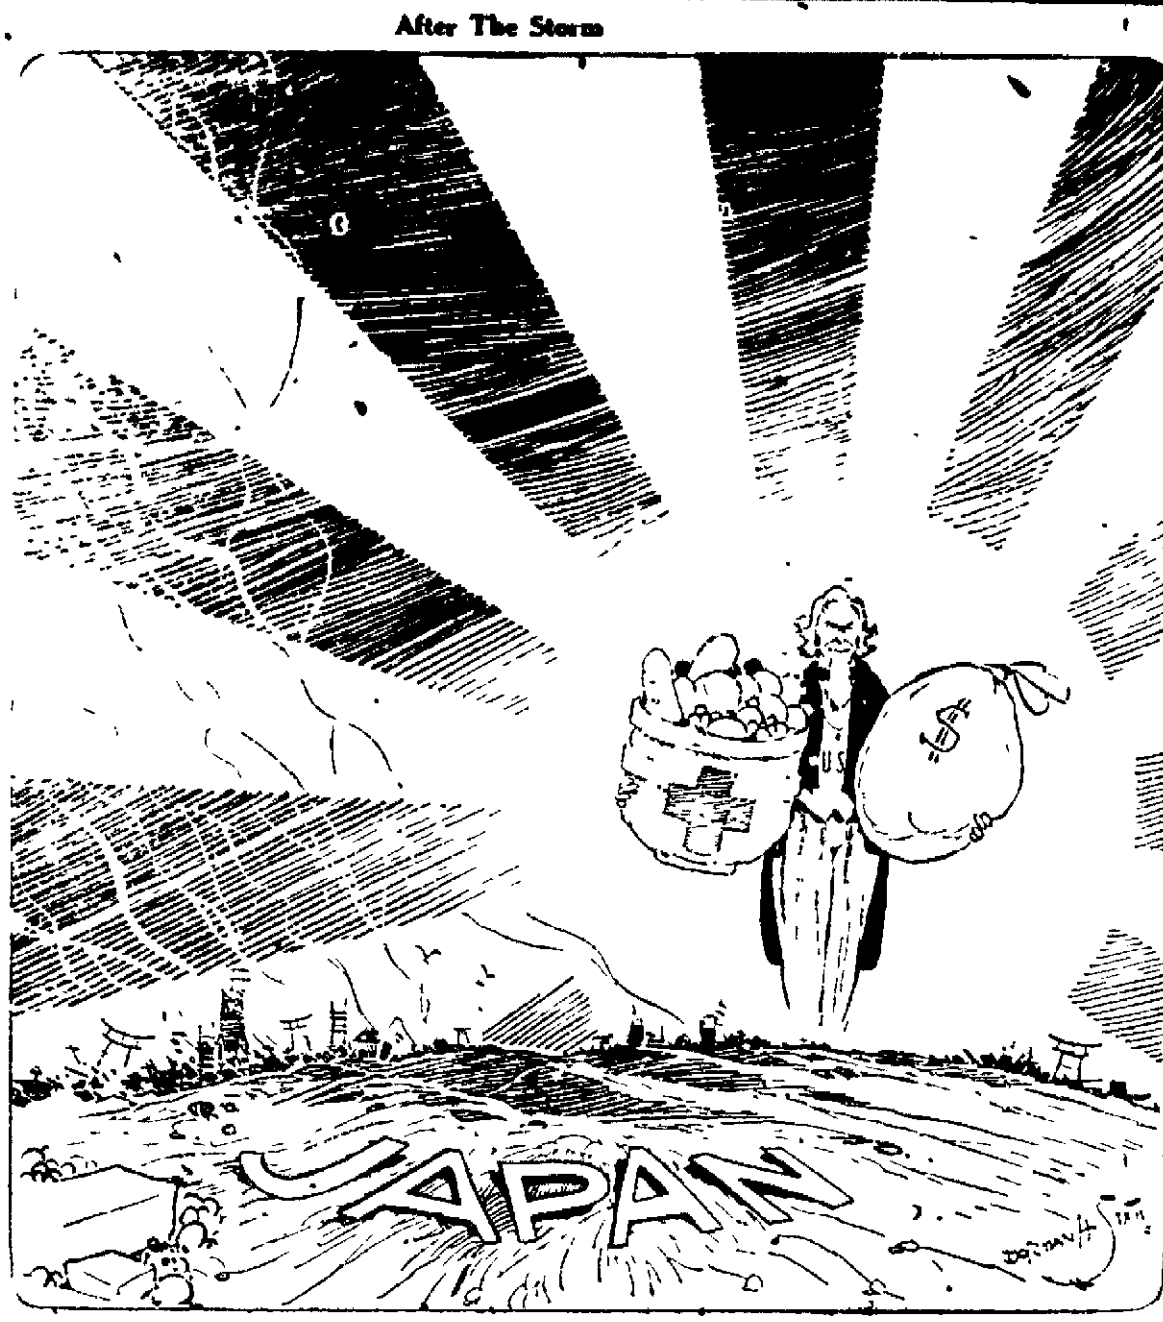

We don't know exactly why we are addressing this letter to you unless it is because you are the one man in Port Arthur that we know who has a real "citizen's" interest in seeing that your community gets a dollar's worth of value for every dollar expended. We wish they were more like you.

As Ever,
FATHER STILWELL.

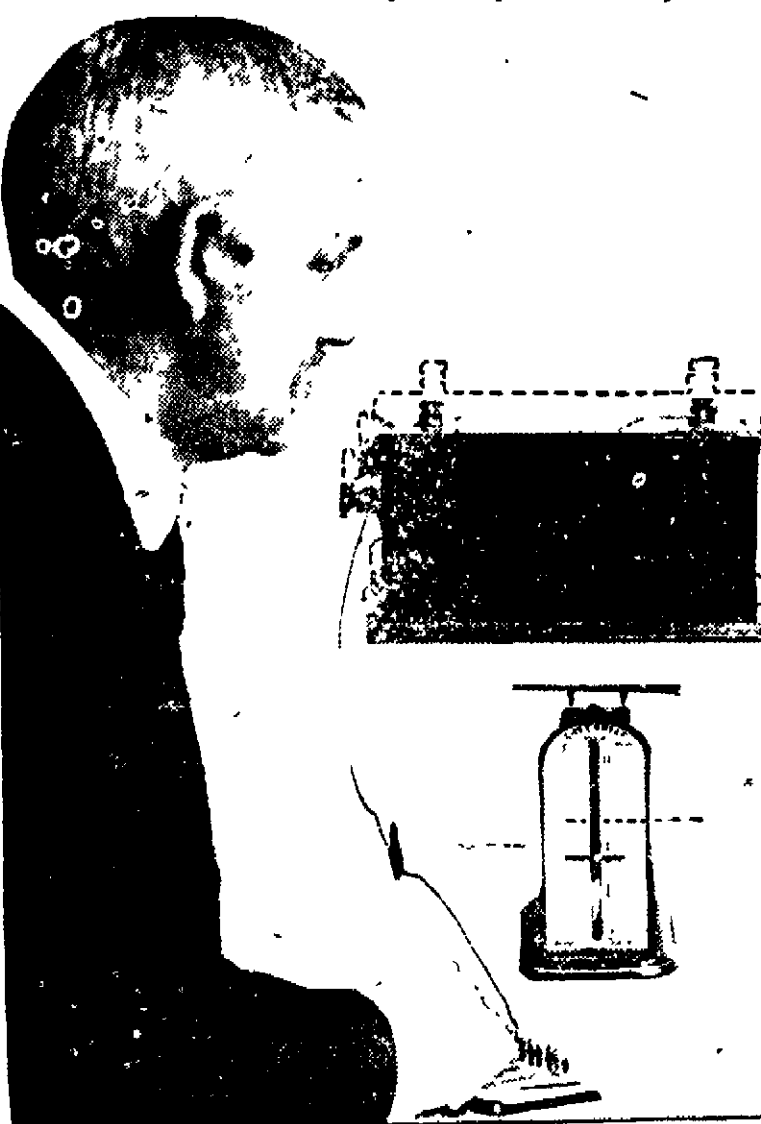

grower whose farm was plastered with mortgages.

It would be impossible for the government to fix the price of wheat in peace time or to purchase the surplus and store it for a year or years to come. It is not the province of government to fix prices on cotton or wheat or corn or petroleum or lumber or any other commodity.

This Senator Magnus and his followers will discover early in December when the new congress begins its grinding.

BULL IS COLOR BLIND, HE SAYS

Psychologist Blasts Red Flag Myth

BERKELEY, Cal., Sept. 22.—A red flag means nothing to a bull, Dr. G. M. Stratton, head of the department of psychology at the University of California, has just completed a "scientific" investigation of what happens in the mind of a bull when he sees a red flag. The answer is—nothing much.

Scientists say the laugh is on the world at large. All these years the bull has been virtually color blind. He doesn't know the difference between red, green, blue, yellow, white or black.

If you wave a red flag at a bull and he charges it is not because of the color of the flag. He is not interested in it.

Flutter is What Attracts
He just wants to find out what is behind it. He would have been just as curious if it had been a white or black flag—a little more so, according to the results of the investigation. It is the flutter of the flag, not the color, that interests him.

Dr. Stratton's evidence is conclusive. He and his assistants have waved red flags in the faces of gentle dairy herds, before the eyes of beef herds on the ranch and at the wild animals on the range.

The reaction is the same, interest and curiosity but no anger. Various colors were tried with the same results. They tried cows and calves, steers and bulls.

The entire bovine tribe is alike—no eye for color at all.

The conclusions reached in more scientific language leave no room for doubt.

No Anger Reaction
No strong excitement over any color was manifested by the whole or any individual.

Interest, hesitation, mild distrust were shown in a banner or any strange thing. Toward no color was there a reaction that could be recognized as anger.

The brightness of the color and the flutter of the banner were more effective than the color.

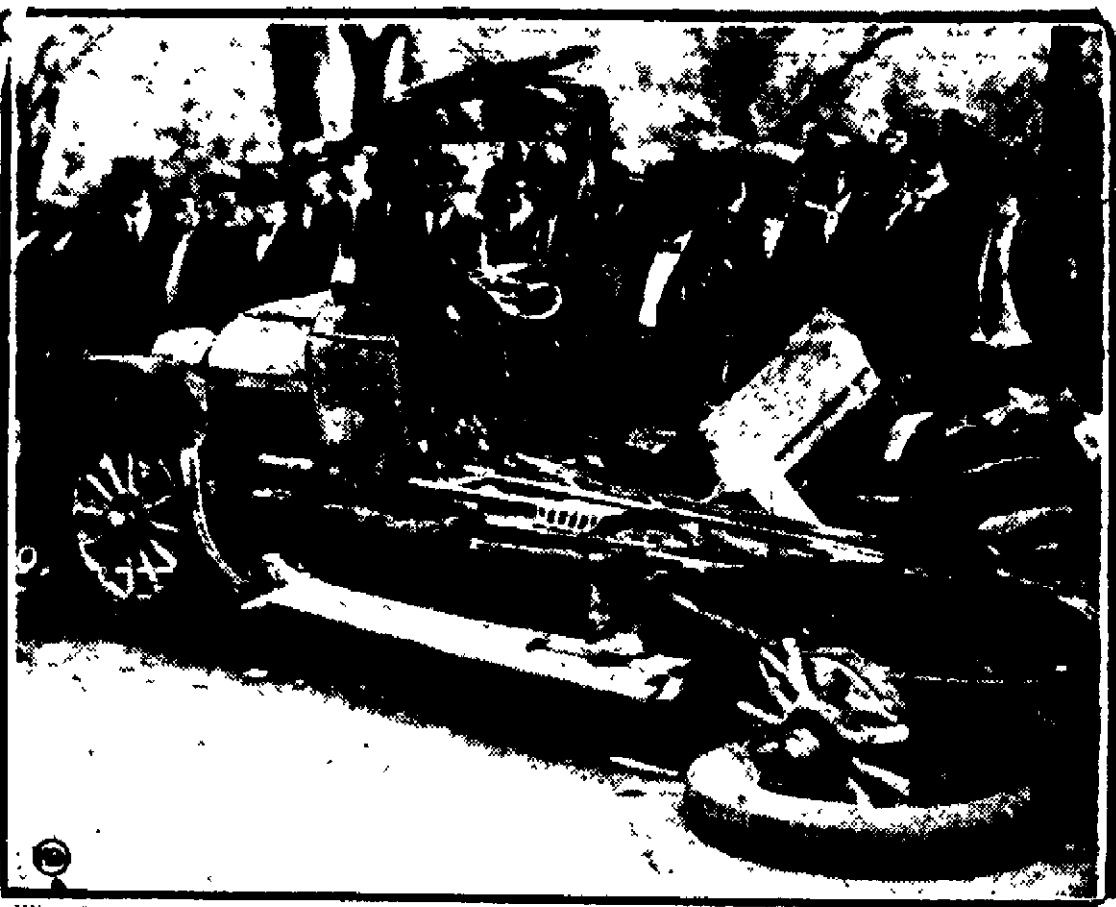

The reaction of wild animals was no greater than that of tame.

The practical side of the question was not overlooked for the academic. The investigators interviewed sixty-six persons familiar with cattle in their everyday life and fifty-three of them denied the popular theory that red angers bulls.

AUTOMOBILE TURNS OVER ON OCCUPANTS

DECATUR, Texas, Sept. 19.—A car, loaded with negroes from Decatur, overturned at death's curve. In the south part of Rhame, this country, Walter Arthur received a severe cut on the leg and his brother was injured.

ANOTHER RIGHT-OF-WAY ARGUMENT

What happened to the auto of Assistant Postmaster General Bartlett was a plenty, when it disputed the right of way with two street cars in Washington. Bartlett narrowly escaped death.

Kisses Strange Girl; Ninety Days in Jail

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 22.—The market on kisses took a sharp upward turn when Eugene Sanchez had to pay ninety days in jail for just one kiss that he implanted upon the cheek of pretty Miss Hazel Townsend.

The price was quoted in the court room of Judge George S. Richardson, where Sanchez was haled to answer to the charge of kissing Miss Townsend when she was in a crowd watching an automobile demonstration on Fourth street some days ago. The technical charge was disturbing the peace.

"Did you kiss this lady?" asked the judge of Sanchez as he pointed to Miss Townsend, who was in the courtroom.

"Yes, your honor."

Miss Townsend then testified that prior to the kissing episode she had never laid eyes on Sanchez.

"Ah, Senator, I will make amends," asserted Sanchez. "I will marry the lady."

As the judge rapped for laughter to cease, Sanchez added: "I fell in love with her, she is wonderful. You will marry us, judge."

Miss Townsend quickly made known that such an arrangement was not to her liking, and the judge then sentenced Sanchez to ninety days in the city jail.

FREE STATERS PUNISH INSURGENTS FOR PRANKS

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Early in the morning recently a flying column of Five State troops, passing through Carrick on Shannon captured a number of young men busily engaged in painting republican inscriptions with tar on various private houses and buildings.

The offenders were taken into custody, and later were brought out carrying mops and pails of water, and compelled to remove the republican notices which had defaced the residences of half of the people in the town.

A large crowd assembled to witness this punishment.

KEEP IN STYLE AND BOB HAIR—TO TEACHERS

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 22.—New Orleans school teachers can all wear their hair bobbed if they so desire, declared Nicholas Bamer, superintendent of schools today.

"There's nothing wrong about bobbed hair, it's all the style and why shouldn't our teachers keep up to date, as they always have and always will," the superintendent said, and added that he would rather see them with bobbed hair than wearing Parisian wigs.

BLAME ESKIMOS FOR TRAGEDIES

White Traders Victims of Arctic Violence

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 22.—Near a score of deaths due to the murderous assault of the supposedly docile Eskimo of the Arctic in Alaska and the Yukon have been reported by the royal Canadian mounted police during the last few months. Several of the number slain were white men.

According to a report issued by the mounted police, the epidemic of murderous violence is surprising, as the Eskimos are a kindly and lovable people. A grave feature of the situation is the number of white traders who have fallen victims to the unusual violence.

The northern police have requested the Canadian government to send first class interpreters to the north where the Eskimos come into contact with the white traders.

The natives require everything explained in detail otherwise they imagine they do not get a good bargain.

It was said several of the Eskimo victims had been stalked and waylaid while sleeping in camp, indicating the northerners had concluded in their own way to get revenge for a bad bargain in trading.

SASKATCHEWAN'S HAIL LOSS OVER $1,280,000

REGINA, Sask., Sept. 22.—The total amount paid out for hail losses this season to date by the Saskatchewan Municipal Hail Insurance Association is $1,280,000. The losses are to be met by a levy of 18 cents per acre on seeded acreage, and the flat rate of 4 cents an acre on all lands. The 18-cent rate will bring in a revenue of $876,855.98 on 4,860,000 acres to be assessed, and the flat rate will bring an additional $484,675.98 on 12,116,442 acres, making a total revenue for the year of $1,361,531.96.

Judge Dycus Formulates Ten Cardinal Principles of Diplomatic Marital Relations

Hah! The dark secret is out and a cure for divorce actions discovered, and all right here in Port Arthur. Lawyers specializing in divorces can close up shop now that the age-old query, "How to be happy though married" has been answered.

Judge A. W. Dycus, corporation court judge comes to the front with his remedy for quarrels, fights, black eyes and separations.

Married men, the next time friend wife wishes to give you a permanent wave with a skillet or claw-hammer, pull out the book of rules and refer to page 23.

Judge Dycus does not recommend his amendment to "Mark" of Queensbury as a sure cure for all ills, but believes business in aggravated assault cases in his court might be lessened if the ten commandments compiled are abided by.

The commandments follow:
1—Avoid the first quarrel.
2—Don't argue, nag, or find fault.
3—"Ours" and not "mine" should be the home pronoun.
4—Let there be no boss rule.
5—Confine your intimacies to Walter G. Blackburn, bunco suspect.

reunite—don't share them with your friends.
6—A hot love and affection will prevent petty quarrels.
7—Husbands must keep in mind that running a house is a tough job.
8—Be considerate and overlook the wife's nerves.
9—Keep respect for each other.
10—Protect the home with love insurance by having as many children as possible.

After reading 'em over, the question arises to a single man that hisness might have said:
Don't get married.

EIGHT MILLION ROOSTER YARD SPINNER IN JAIL

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 22.—Louis A. Brandle is a cork. He is familiar with the ways of chickens. The other day he met a stranger. The stranger offered him a job as secretary to 8,000,000 roosters on his Texas ranch. The pay was to be $400 a month. But to get the job he would have to pay $2,000.

Brandle thought 8,000,000 roosters were a lot of roosters, so he told the police.

Yesterday he met the rooster king at Sixth and Broadway. The police also met him and moved him over to the jail, where he was booked as Walter G. Blackburn, bunco suspect.

Two Blackface Artists Now at Strand

Harding and Kimling, blackface comedians who will be at the Strand Theatre this week, starting Sunday.

BOBBY WARREN STOCK CO.

An advance notice says: Port Arthur treacherers will doubtless be pleased to learn that the Bobby Warren Stock company will open an extended engagement at the Elks theatre Sunday, Sept. 30. The engagement is indefinite and during its stay in Port Arthur all the latest New York stock releases will be shown here at popular prices.

The Bobby Warren Stock company has long been known as one of the strongest stock organizations playing the south. The company is headed by Bobby Warren, the south's most popular comedian, who is also supported by Miss Bee Harris, Emmitt Boring and a large company of well known artists of proven ability.

Every play will be produced in its entirety with a complete scenic and electrical equipment exactly as they were presented by the original companies.

The play selected for the opening here is Geo. M. Cohan's latest and greatest success, "The Menace Man in the World," which will run Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The last two of the last part of the week will be announced later. Other plays to be shown during the company's engagement are: "The Boy," "East Is West," "Cheating Cheaters," "The Hottentot," "Drives of the Mountain," "Seven Keys to Paladino," "The Street," "The Post Man," "Merry Vodka," "The Small Town Girl," "Kick In," "Sinners," "The Woman in Black," "The Sound of Music," "Up in Mable's Room," "Three Wise Fools," and others.

"HOMEBWARD BOUND"

An advance notice says: Said to be a most colorful photo-play and race entertainment, from the standpoint of fine direction, brilliant portraiture, artistic photography and beauty of landscape, Thos. Meighan's latest Paramount star vehicle, "Homeward Bound," will be on view at the People's theatre for 14 days beginning today (Sunday).

Lila Lee, one of the screen's most popular leading women, plays opposite the star in this delightful sea picture which is based on Peter B. Kyne's story, "The Light in the Dark." The story deals with the love romance of a sailor and the daughter of a ship owner. The supporting cast is one of exceptional excellence and includes among others, Charles Abbe, William T. Carleton, Hugh Cameron, Gus Weingart, Maudie Turner Gordon, Cyril Ring and Katherine Spencer. Ralph Ince directed.

"THE GIRL WHO CAME BACK"

Picture producers like to tell of the fabulous sums spent for screen rights to popular books and plays. The public, they would have you believe, can only be impressed by the news of literary acquisitions paid for in certified checks of six figures.

It is a coincidence, perhaps, that the man to spend this practice is B. P. Schulberg, a young producer, who has probably negotiated for more famous stories than anyone else. Schulberg is responsible for "The Girl Who Came Back," now playing at the Pearce theatre. "I believe," says he, "that the screen has now reached the point where it can develop stories of its own. Its salvation no longer lies in its stars but in its capacity to portray a sound story well. It is those that incorporate the correct material. Any good screen material is not measured in prices alone. It is a known fact that producers have developed a disastrous tendency in the last few years of buying up anything that has made a hit in another medium irrespective of its adaptability to screen purposes. We do not need stories—we need to get them from novels and from plays if they offer the proper stuff but more popularly."

ELLIS COUNTY FAIR EXHIBITS EDUCATION

ENNIS, Texas, Sept. 22.—The Ellis county fair this year will add to its exhibit an educational department in which the school children of the county will display their work. Chairman Superintendent Dupree Davis has assured the directors of the fair of its to screen purposes. We do not need stories—we need to get them from novels and from plays if they offer the proper stuff but more popularly."

GARDEN AIRDOME

An advance notice says: Fergusson Brothers Stock company tonight, Monday and Tuesday will present the greatest sensational drama of the age, the "Ku Klux Klan," with a special scenic production and an excellent cast. It's a play that everybody can enjoy whether you are for it, against it or neutral, as there will be nothing to incite prejudice, and possibly much to learn of this most talked of organization of the day. An extraordinary attraction will be the Spanish Troubadours, instrumentalists, soloists, singers and dancers, really making two shows in one.

The following extract was taken from the Chickasha, Okla., paper: "There was a surprise last night at the Fergusson theatre and especially for the large audience present to witness the 'Ku Klux Klan' when the Chickasha Klan (Chickasha Klan) made their appearance just before the play, while Mr. Fergusson in his announcement, was giving the history and origin of the K. K. K. Mr. Fergusson paused to welcome the sisters of the 'Invisible Empire' with a few words of explanation to the audience. The ladies silently marched down the aisle, following their leader who carried a white American flag, and after crossing the theatre in front of the orchestra pit and going down the aisle they disappeared suddenly and silently as they came. After the audience recovered from the surprise they applauded the ladies a hearty demonstration."

"THE LION'S MOUSE"

An advance notice says: Another screen beauty comes to the screen of the Strand Theatre next Sunday when "The Lion's Mouse," the mysterious melodrama, is the feature picture. This star who has been one of the brightest luminaries in the film firmament is none other than the beautiful Marguerite Marsh. "The Lion's Mouse" is a rip-roaring melodrama that is promised to hold the attention of the audience until the very last. It is a Hollandia production directed by the well-known and popular Oscar Apfel and features Marguerite Marsh and Wyndham Standing.

Miss Marsh has ranked for the past few years with some of the greatest of film stars. This has been due not alone to her exotic beauty, but also to her ability as an actress as well. Her training in the motion picture field has been complete. She started in from the very bottom, and through hard labor she reached the top and it has been due entirely to her untiring efforts for success.

"TEMPTATION"

An advance notice says: Bryant Washburn and Eva Novak experienced the thrill of their lives when the former drove an automobile in which both were riding across a ten-foot gap. This incident occurred during the filming of "Temptation."

$25,000 LION JUMPS TRAINER

Circus Trainer Exemplifies Spirit of Big Top

"The spirit of the circus" That is what enabled Herr Jawn Hellott, the chief animal trainer of the Haggenbeck-Wallace Circus, to complete his act, and then work an additional day, and then another trainer arrived, after nearly having his right arm torn from his body by "Sultan," the giant lion, valued at $25,000 by the circus management.

Last winter, when the Haggenbeck show was appearing intact in the big building in the metropolitan centers, such as Chicago, Cleveland, Kansas City and St. Louis, Hellott was working his group of seven lions in St. Paul. The lions had been acting badly for several days, due to the cold weather outside, and their close quarters, but Hellott was certain he could "work" them without danger.

Suddenly Sultan, the largest lion in the group turned upon his trainer, as Hellott was about to put his arm around him. The arm was nearly torn from the body but Hellott rushed out side of the cage, had it bandaged to his body and then returned to the arena to complete the act. Spectators applauded the man for his courage and nerve, but Hellott was not seeking applause, he only wanted to "make good."

Hellott also worked the act twice the next day, as John Gullfoyle, another trainer, did not reach St. Paul from West Baden until late that night. And then on the third day without ever seeing the animals perform Gullfoyle went into the arena and put the lions through their act.

Hellott remained in the hospital for several weeks, but returned to West Baden in time to perform in act in which eleven lions and appear. This is the largest number of lions to ever work simultaneously in this country and was performed after three years of constant training. Both the lion and tiger acts are features of the Haggenbeck-Wallace Circus, which comes to Port Arthur for two performances and has free street parking on Thursday, Sept. 27.

BLOOD AND THUNDER TALES TO TOUR U. S.

der literature in existence will start from New York Friday on a tour of the United States, ending at Palo Alto, Calif., where it will probably become a permanent part of the library of Leland Stanford, Jr., university.

The collection contains more than 2,400 specimens collected by Dr. Frank P. O'Brien, over a period of 20 years. Nearly every thriller printed between 1840 and 1880, the golden days of this kind of writing, is included.

There is not a single specimen of the decadent stuff of the last 30 or 35 years, such as the tales about Frank Merriwell, Diamond Dick, Young and Old King Brady, Nick Carter and the Liberty Boys of '76.

New American Golf Champion Crowned; Marston Is Winner

FLOSSMOOR COUNTRY CLUB, CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—A new king of America's Amateur Golf Realm was crowned here today.

Marston, 29, a golfer who yesterday was champion only of his own home town—Philadelphia—arose from the ranks of 200 players who applied to become Joe Sweetser, 1922 champion, to the very pinnacle of success by beating the champion 1 up on the 38th hole.

After the match to a tie at the thirty-sixth hole and requiring two extra holes to decide the winner, Marston and Sweetser broke a record for American amateurs. Only once before has a championship match gone longer than the 36th—that in 1911 when Harold Hilton of England defeated Fred Herreshoff at the thirty-seventh.

With the score one up in his favor at the 35th Sweetser was dead and Marston taking the hole and securing the match. They halved the 36th and 37th and again on the 38th Marston fell into a full stytle and won the hole, the match and the title. Marston played the same calm game that carried him to victory over Jones and Olinet.

W. D. "Bull" Johnson of Beaumont, famous Aggie guard and outstanding star of the Thanksgiving day game at Austin last year, was elected captain at a special meeting of the football squad last night.

Miller's loss will be keenly felt by the team. For the last two years he was one of the mainstays of the eleven.

Johnson is popular with the players and students and will make an ideal leader.

TO STRENGTHEN WEAKEST TEAMS

Baseball Magnates Expected To Take Action at Meet

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—It is stated that when the baseball magnates meet and the world series are over the magnates will begin to consider a difficult problem, how to strengthen the weakest teams in both circuits.

The magnates passed a rule last winter prohibiting the sale of players, except at the waiver price, after June 15. This was done to prevent the Giants, Yankees and other wealthy clubs from buying stars for big money from weaker rivals in order to improve their chances in mid-season to participate in the golden world series.

As far as the Yankees are concerned the new rule hasn't retarded them at all. They rolled up a record-breaking lead in the race for the American league championship and, having won, they are now to participate in their third consecutive title for the interleague title. The Giants, on the other hand, have been affected materially by these restrictions. McGraw has been unable to reach out for capable pitchers who might have put his team so far ahead of the Cincinnati and Pittsburgh contenders that the National League struggle now on would have been all over but the shouting.

Puzzling Plays

THE PLAY
A few years ago two unusual plays came up on the Detroit American League grounds.

Ground rules were in vogue. An overflow crowd caused ropes to be stretched in front of the right field bleachers. Balls hit into such territory were good for two bases.

In one game a hard hit line drive struck in front of the roped territory, bounded over the heads of the spectators back of the ropes and went into the bleachers, without coming in contact with any person or thing on restricted territory.

Later, a batsman hit a fly ball which struck in the roped territory back of the ropes. It then bounded into the bleachers. Both plays appeared identical, yet different rulings were rendered in each case. The second hit was the longer.

What would have been the proper ruling? In the first play the proper ruling would have been to allow the batsman a home run, which the umpire did. The ball struck on playing territory in front of the ropes and then bounded over the crowds into the bleachers, making such a hit a home run.

In the other the batsman was granted two bases as covered by the ground rule, even though the hit was a longer drive than the other one.

In the second case the ball struck the ground back of the ropes, in territory restricted to two bases. The moment it struck the ground in such territory back of the ropes it became a two-base hit, regardless of what happened later.

The ball immediately became dead when it so hit, and the fact that it then bounded into the bleachers meant nothing.

New Talent to Help Women's Sextet for Games of '24 Chart

Girls basketball for the '23-'24 season got the jump on the men's sport for the same season late yesterday afternoon when the Good Gulf Girls' local basketball team, came through with the announcement of re-organization again this year. Practice will begin among the aspirants for berths on the team within the next few days, it is understood.

During the past season the Good Gulf Girls' team created a deal of widespread publicity for Port Arthur by their games played against other girls' teams from different parts of the state.

The announcement that the same team will again be on the polished boards again this year is a welcome one.

A list of sculps which would do credit to any team was taken by the local girls' aggregation last season and with practically the same lineup to again face the opposition this year, another likely string of wins is anticipated.

Last year in meeting 26 tough opponents the Good Gulf team broke even with the state, winning 13 and losing the same number. A schedule of games for this year is being worked up and hopes are held to better the record of last year.

Present indications are that the same players, bolstered up by the addition of much new talent, will carry the Good Gulf's colors again this season. Among those who made possible the splendid record of last year are several of the best known girl basketball players in this section of the state and under able tutelage again this season are priming for a strenuous campaign.

The sextet this year will be captained by Gladys Going who will issue the call for the initial practice within the next fortnight.

R. Lewis will be in charge of the corps of coaches for the team this year and promises a lineup of clever plays for his proteges. Among the girls are Holberg, Audrey Pharr, Ella Ericson, Margaret Palmer, Gertrude Erickson, Midge Paxton and Isabelle Davis.

In addition to the above mentioned players, several new girls have signed the roster for the first practice of the team and with the veterans of last year to form the nucleus of the team Captain Going should have a fast stepping outfit.

Among the feats of last year's team was the winning of the Beaumont Women's League championship and titular cup. In order to retain possession of this cup it is necessary for a team to win it three years. Two years ago a permanent cup was won by the girls' team.

In an effort to stir up interest in women's competition on the hard wood, the management of the Three G's team will issue defies to several of the strongest women's organizations in this section of the state, the games to be played on a local floor.

The Trowand and Cochran Insurance clubs of Dallas will be asked to come here for a series of games. The S. M. U. team of Dallas is another of the sextet to be challenged by the local organization.

In their games of the past two years, the G's team has met and defeated not only organization clubs like their own, but has invaded high school and business college circles for competition. It is understood that the same procedure will be followed in lining up the schedule of the next season.

In giving their time and efforts toward the perfection of a girls' basketball team to represent Port Arthur against other Texas institutions, the Good Gulf Girls have more than come half way in giving the city a team of which to be proud. It is, therefore, up to the lovers of the winter sport to see that the girls are not without support.

Duffy in addition to winning the all-around championship was high on the doubles.

'BOOTS' LEVER WILL RETURN TO CINDERS

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The return of Harold "Boots" Lever, the former University of Pennsylvania captain, to foot racing, marked by his appearance on the track at Toronto a couple of weeks ago, assures some hectic sprinting on the boards next winter.

Running in the form that he displayed at the interscholastic A. A. games at the close of his college career Lever shapes up as a foeman worthy of even the flashing speed that Loren Murchison, the rejuvenated national champion has displayed in his recent races on the cinders.

EAST BEAT WEST ON CLAY COURT

Tilden Scores Win Over Old Friend Bill Johnson

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Eastern Tennis Stars defeated the western stars here today in the annual east-west matches by a score of 4 to 1 in front of a small crowd at the West Side Tennis club.

The East won four singles matches while the best the Westerners were able to get was one victory in the doubles match. Because the two-day program was played off today, it was decided to make all the matches two victories out of three.

William T. Tilden, national champion, again defeated his rival, Bill Johnson, the Pacific coast star, in the feature match of the day. Tilden was not extended to win at 8-6 and 7-5.

Vincent Richards won from Howard Kelsey, California, at 6-3, 6-2. Richard Norris Williams, Philadelphia, defeated Robert Kinsey, California, at 6-1, 7-9, 6-3, and Wallace Johnson, Philadelphia, won from Clarence Griffin, California, at 7-5, 8-6.

The California team of Johnson and Griffin beat the Eastern pair, Williams and Watson Washburn, in the doubles at 7-5, 5-6 and 7-5.

Women Strong for Track Tournament

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Track and field athletics for women are expected to vie with swimming for recognition as the most popular sport for feminine contestants before another year passes, according to Fred L. Steers, chairman of the women's track and field athletics committee of the Amateur Athletic union.

"The growth of track and field athletics for women has been rapid and continuous since the Amateur Athletic union took over control of this sport a year ago," said Mr. Steers, "and judging from the remarkable interest being shown in the coming national track and field championships at Weequahic park, Newark, on September 29, it will not be long before track and field contests for women will be as popular as swimming has grown to be since that sport has been under A. A. U. jurisdiction."

ALL-AMERICAN COACH
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 22.—John Thurman, picked as an all-American tackle while with the University of Pennsylvania football team last year, has been signed as line coach for the University of Southern California.

Classy Card Hung Up for Gas Derby At Speedway Today

In one of the classic cards arranged here at the East Texas Speedway since that oval underwent a change in management is presented on the tracks this afternoon when some 16 cars will vie with each other in four races. The first event will be run at 3:30 o'clock.

Manager J. P. Broussard of the East Texas Speedway track completed arrangements to bring this classy field of drivers to the oval last night and appeared well pleased with the result of his endeavors.

The 16 drivers and cars entered in the races all are well known to patrons of the gas derby in this section. Three of the late entrants yesterday afternoon were shipped into Beaumont from Houston and driven to the oval for tuning up spins. It is understood that the three newcomers are at the head of the prize lists to date at the Houston speedway.

To Split Gate.
Depending upon the amount of the gate receipts, the prizes will be awarded on a percentage basis of half the ticket sales. In view of the interest manifest in this meeting, local drivers were optimistic about the fat purse to be hung up by the management.

This is the third time that an attempt has been made to stage this series of races, rain having interfered on two other occasions. Because of this and the highly rampant among the competitors, a large crowd is expected to gather to watch the running of the contests.

Prominent among the drivers who have entered this afternoon's racing card are Wild Bill Wade and Rex Edmunds. "Wild Bill" will drive a special Studebaker that equaled first place in the Galveston races last week and in driving the same car in today's program bids fair to make the boys turn 'em loose if they are to finish in the money.

Jack Saunders, who has been at the wheel of the No. 1 Fronty, will take No. 2 Fronty for this afternoon for Owner Silverstein.

In view of the number of out-of-town racers attracted by the speedway's program today it is evident that the class of this section of the state has been attracted here for the chance at the end of the gate receipt melo.

Track in Good Shape.
Following a carefully laid out program for the improvement of the track, Manager Broussard and a corps of workmen completed work deemed necessary to put the oval in the best of shape.

Included in the lists of drivers who are to compete for the prize money today are men from Beaumont, Orange, Houston, Galveston, Groes Creek, and Port Arthur.

The local delegation of drivers will be but two. H. Deekshot driving Rex Evans' Dodge and Roy Huston in his Durant.

Sufficient parking space for a large number of vehicles has been provided and the program will be the same as announced on last week. Four races are on the books, three at 12 miles and the fourth at 18 miles.

Opening Wrestling Match Monday Night—Gulfies Lose 4 to 0

NATATORIUM SCENE OF BUDWINE-COUCH CLASH

BUDWINE-COUCH IN BEST OF CONDITION

Budwine
Weight 240
Has met and defeated some of the best men in his weight in the game. Says he has every confidence in his ability to throw Couch Monday, but it will be one of the toughest in terms of his career.

Couch
Weight 120
Has been working out with local wrestlers for some weeks previous to the signing of the Budwine match. Says: "I'm not making the least bit in being overconfident, but I believe I'll be returned the winner, Monday night. Place, Natatorium. Betting capact—1,100. Prize—Winner take all."

Wrestling fans of Port Arthur and the surrounding towns are set for tomorrow night's all-star wrestling card at the Natatorium when Jess Couch and Owen Budwine are to meet in the windup bout of the evening.

Catch-as-catch-can rules are to govern the finish match of two out of three falls.

The match of Monday is attracting more than local attention and is being touted as a "refinery" championship, the two men working for different training concerns in Port Arthur.

Advance seat sales have been better than expected, according to Matchmaker Ferguson and indications point to a capacity house tomorrow night when the two grapplers take to the mat.

In addition to the all-star windup and prepared, several fast preliminary matches of lighter weights have been signed for matches, and these are attracting their share of local attention.

Blocks of seats have been reserved by wrestling fans of Beaumont, Orange, Port Neches and other surrounding towns for the opening clash of the winter wrestling season here.

Both Budwine and Couch have defeated some of the best men at their weights in this section of the state and in wrestling before strange and excess have made numerous friends who will come here tomorrow night to see them settle the argument of long standing.

The first preliminary will get under way at 8:15 o'clock tomorrow night.

MAGNOLIAS EVEN SERIES--WIN 4-0

Gulfies Hold Visitors to 1-0
Score for 9 Frames

SERIES STANDING
Gulf	W. L. Pct.
Magnolia	1 1 .500
Gulf	1 1 .500

Fighting their strong opposition to the last ditch through sensational fielding and almost airtight pitching the Gulf community baseball team went down before the Magnolia nine at Lincoln Park yesterday afternoon 4 to 0.

The score stood 1 to 0 against the Gulfies going into the ninth, but by sheer manpower the visiting club snatched a no-run win with three rallies in their ninth and put the game in the refrigerator.

This afternoon the same two clubs will meet on the Lincoln park diamond in their third battle for the industrial ball championship of south-eastern Texas.

According to the dope on the stand ing of the series, the game of this afternoon should be a corker, as both managers are priming their men to take the all game of the five-game series. The best three out of five was decided on at the beginning of the season as the way of picking the champion.

Superb fielding behind Prejean for the Gulf team yesterday was responsible for the close score of the game until the ninth inning. Clean smacks by Francisco was kicked and beaten in registered by the Magnolia team, however, shot across too big a handicap in their ninth for the local club to overcome.

Neither manager would give out his battery for today's game but it is assumed that the team will present their stiffest lineup in the third game of the schedule.

Following is the score of yesterday's

Pre-Schedule Hurts Slow Up Practices On Longhorn Eleven

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 22.—Despite injuries to 15 members of the Longhorn football squad at the end of the second week of practice prospects are far from discouraging. In baseball in early spring there are always many sore arms and other ailments reported and the same thing goes for football in early fall. The present injured list includes Gibstrap, Blumstein, Brax, Clark, Hughes, Clarence Smith, Payant, Setogast, Ramsey, Shearer, Barton, Toland, and Trammell, but practically all of these players will be ready for the initial game of the season.

Expect Longhorn Backfield to Be First-Seen in Texas School On Grid in Years.
Judging from practice sessions, the Longhorns will have one of the best backfield players in the conference in big Oscar Eckhardt, of Austin. Eckhardt is showing much better form this year than in previous seasons. He is the best punter on the squad, can forward pass, hit the line and is fast at moving the ends. Captain "Bully" Tynes reported this summer in excellent condition and should have the best season of his long career.

Among the new linemen Leon Gorman, Sprague and Newell are giving the old timers a fight for regular positions. Newell was center on last year's freshman squad while Gorman and Sprague have played tackle.

Red Plut of Gonzales, from last year's freshman team is giving the veterans George Glavin a fight for the quarterback position. Both are showing splendidly in practice.

The Longhorns will be well fortified this year with punters. Oscar Eckhardt and Bobby Robertson, the veterans are kicking the ball higher and further than ever. Ben Ben Dave Allen, a newcomer, is developing rapidly. He is big and tall and is considered a good prospect.

Coch Stewart Has Chart to Grade Players To Determine Points They Are Worthy In.
Coach "Doc" Stewart has perfected a chart, whereby he grades all the players. This chart is something new in Texas football. He gives each candidate a grade on his right weight, speed, spirit, football intelligence, temperament, signals, physical condition, defensive, offensive, studies, team value, blocking points, and tackling. The coach also has the players to grade one another. He then strives to develop the players in the departments where they receive low grades. Coach Stewart says this will aid him in having a well-balanced team and will enable him to find out all about his players' possibilities.

Bryan High Charts Tough Schedule in Games of '23 Year

BRYAN, Texas, Sept. 22.—Bryan High football enthusiasm has developed with the opening days of school in Bryan. At the initial practice meeting this week Dave Bunting, half back of last year's team, was elected captain. Sam Crenshaw is captain of student manager to look after all details at school. Yell leaders and line players will be appointed early in the season.

PERKINS TRIES 6 YEARS TO NIP COLLINS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—Cy Perkins of the Philadelphia Athletics is considered one of the best catchers in either a major league. As a matter of fact a number of experts consider him the premier backstop of the big show.

Perkins does everything well, but no one thing better than throw. He has a wonderful arm and gets the ball away with unerring accuracy. A number of the Philadelphia pitchers possess opposing runners to get a ball head, but despite this Perkins turns most of them back.

Eddie Collins of the Chicago White Sox and George Sisler of the Browns who has been out of the game all season because of eye trouble, are two of the best base runners in the American league. There is little to choose between them, yet Sisler has always been easy for Perkins to throw out, while Collins has been corresponding tough.

Recently in a game between Chicago and the Athletics which Mack's club won 3 to 2 Collins in the eighth inning hit safely and a moment later tried to steal second. Pitcher Hargis, who had been out to get a living start, and only a remarkable throw

Willie Kamm Having Peculiar Season for First in Majors

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Willie Kamm, who is more than making good at third sacker for the Chicago White Sox in his first year in the big show, is having a rather peculiar season of it at the bat. It looks as if he might set a rather unusual record.

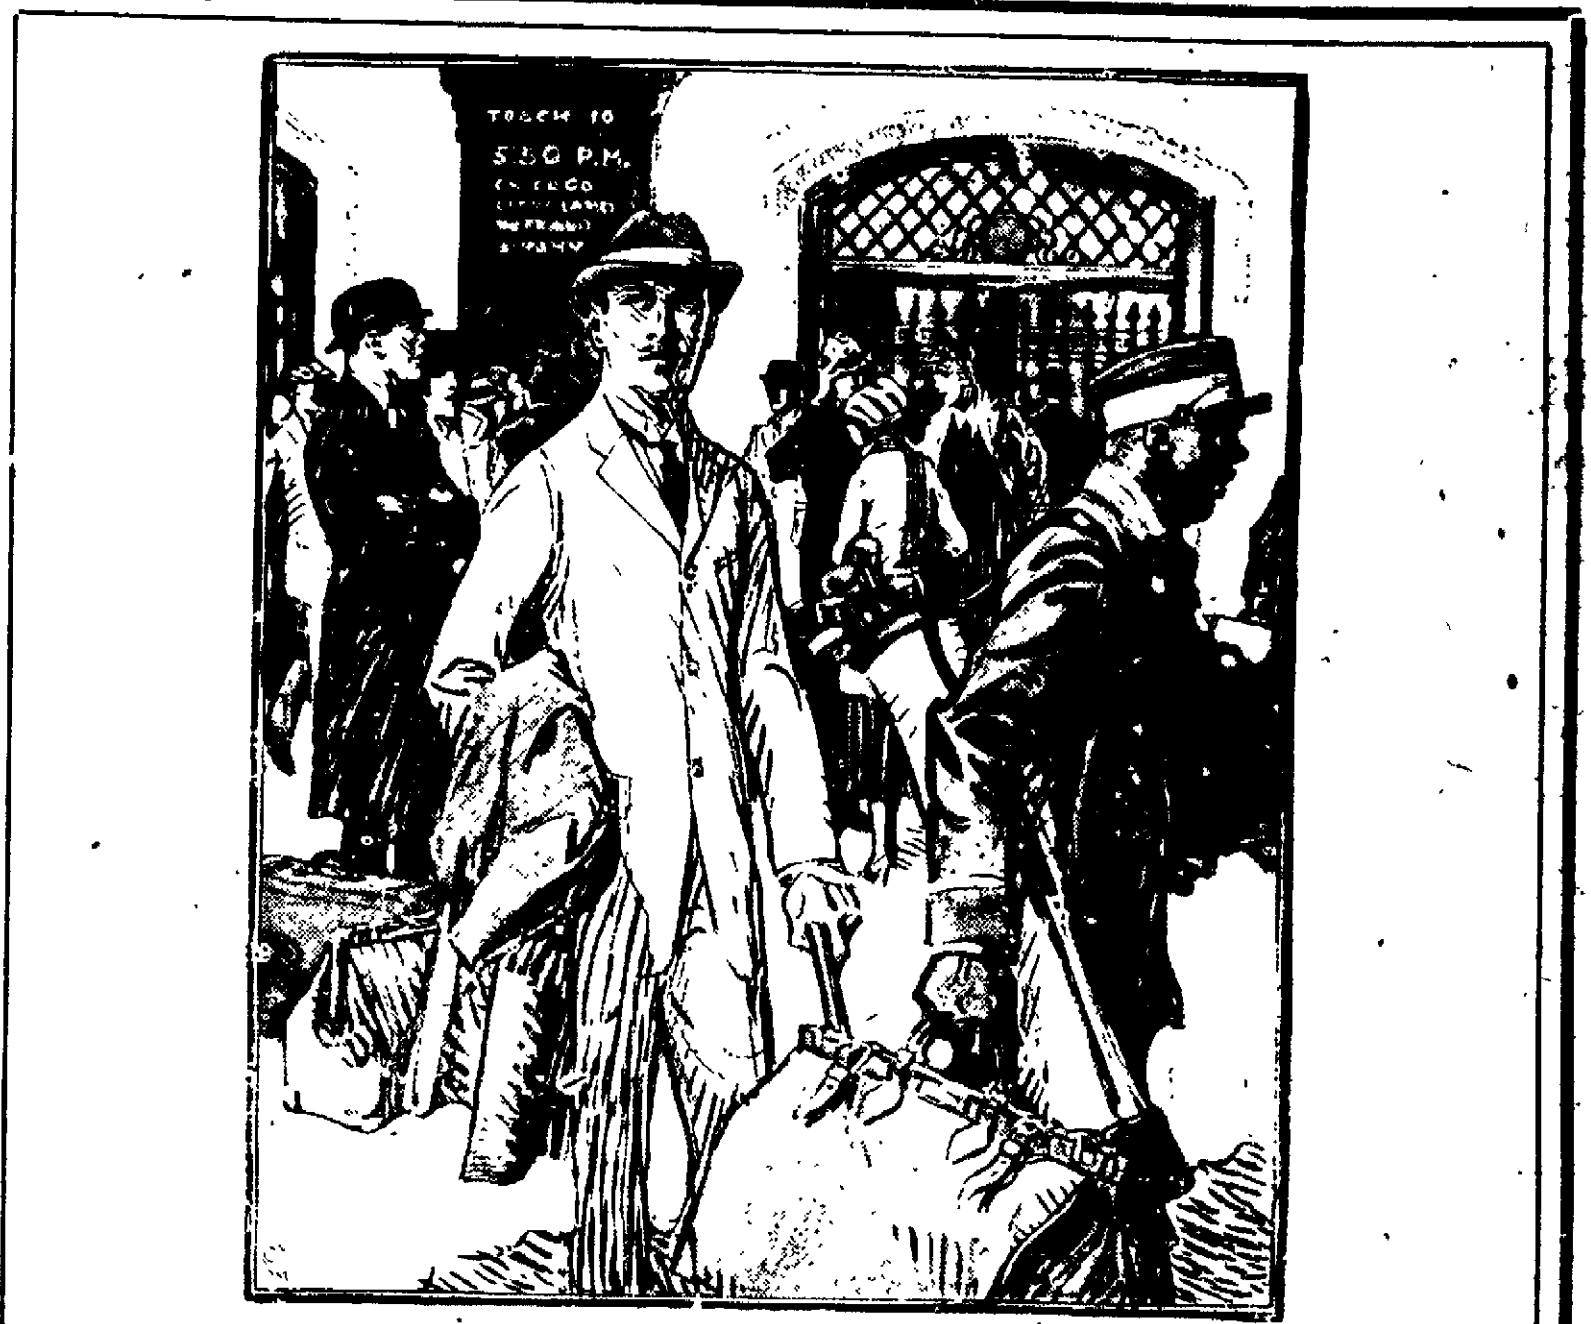

If he continues his odd showing at the plate he has better than an even chance to hit over 300 when the curtain is rung down on 1923.

Kamm's best work at the bat has been the making of two base hits. However, it is concerning strikeouts that Kamm has done the unusual for a 300 batter. In many cases when Kamm has failed to hit safely, pitchers have found that striking him out is a favorite way to send him back to the bench.

Unless Kamm ends down on his strikeouts the close of the season may see him finish as the leader in failure of play, that not altogether complimentary.

FISHERS FIND SEAL IS DROWNED GOAT

PARIS, Sept. 22.—Believing they were about to catch a large seal a group of Cherbourg fishermen were somewhat astonished to land a goat, which, having wandered out on the sands, had been caught by the retreating tide and drowned. The astonishment of the fishermen turned to consternation when they brought back their catch, for they were confronted by the police and arrested for hunting out of season.
